STRIKE OF YELLOW TAXI CHAUFFEURS COMES TO AN END

Company and Men Reach Mutual Agreement and Contract Running to Dec.
31, 1924, Is Signed.

SUIT AGAINST THE UNION TO BE DROPPED

Drivers to Get $27.50 a Week Remainder of This Year and $28.50 a Week During Next Year.

The strike of Yellow Taxicab chauffeurs, which was called Jan. 1, 1923, in protest against an attempt by the company to reduce wages from $27.50 to $25 a week, and which, for 20 months, has been marked by intermittent violence, came to an end last night by mutual agreement and the signing of a contract running to Dec. 31, 1924.
The contract provides that the Yellow Taxi Motor Co., successor to the Taxicab Trust Estate, which operated the cabs when the strike was called, shall pay the chauffeurs $27.50 a week during the remainder of this year, and $28.50 a week in 1924. A provision of the agreement is that many of the strikers as are needed shall be taken back and that the company who have been operating the cabs given an opportunity to join the union so that they may be read.

Company to Withdraw Suit.
Under condition of the settlement was that the company withdraw a suit for $350,000 damages which the union, based on estimated damages to its property and business caused by the strike.
The agreement, reached at conferences of representatives of the union and A. F. Versen, president of the company, was ratified at a special meeting of the chauffeurs' union last night at 223 Olive street, and after the meeting the contract was signed.
Today many of the strikers and other chauffeurs formed a line before the company's offices and garage, at 237 Lavoie boulevard seeking employment. They were interviewed and their applications taken, and police detail that has been on duty during the strike was still on duty this morning.

Ends 20 Months' Strife.
"I feel that the public will join in expressing satisfaction that the difficulties which have existed for 20 months between our former chauffeurs, their union and ourselves have come to an end," said President Versen. "The settlement of the strike comes after brief negotiations, into which both parties entered with a willingness for reasonable concessions."

The public, the company and the former chauffeurs all have suffered as a result of the strike. To have permitted the disagreement to continue indefinitely would have perpetrated an unnecessary and pur-poseless sacrifice by all three interested parties. The spirit of concession made a settlement comparatively simple. The great trouble was the fact that no negotiations were under way, and not to any insurmountable difficulties.

"We are now at peace with the union, and the union is at peace with us. The basis of settlement does not change the status of any employee, and our present chauffeurs shall be eligible to membership in the union and shall have a reasonable time to apply for such affiliation."
Versen was elected president July 1, succeeding L. Wade Childers.

Violence During the Strike.
The violence attending the strike was at first directed against Yellow cabs, at which stretch bombs and ammunition were hurled from automobiles. Several passengers were killed in these attacks. Then followed assaults on Yellow Cab chairmen, and in several instances their cars were taken and wrecked. In one rash instance a cab was run into the Mississippi River.

"JOE" SOUGHT WHEN 2 WOMEN ARE FOUND SLAIN IN DENVER

One of Them Said to Have Expressed Fear Husband Was Jealous of Italian.

DENVER, Aug. 28.—Police combed the Italian section of Denver late last night and early this morning in search of a man named "Joe" in the belief that he could throw light on the slaying of Mrs. Roy McGilne, 28 years old, wife of a Denver athletic instructor, and Miss Emma Vasovic, 19, a hotel employee, who were found shot to death—each with a bullet in her right temple—last night in Mrs.
McGilne's apartment.

The bodies were found by neighbors, Mrs. Henry T. Burtcher and Mrs. Laura L. Jones, who notified the police. An automatic pistol lay between the bodies, and two empty cartridges were found within a few inches of the weapon.

E. C. Rosser, a neighbor, told police he recently heard Mrs. McGilne say she feared her husband was jealous of "Joe." Rosser said he did not know who "Joe" was.

PLAN FOR NEGRO PARK BLOCKED

Land They Had in View Bought by County Park Commission.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Sales of 320 acres at Croton Point to the Westchester County Park Commission yesterday brought charges today by Robert W. Justice, head of a syndicate of negroes which had been negotiating for the property, that the land was sold "at a cut-price to the county commission merely to prevent its becoming the property of colored people." The park commission paid $360,000 for the land, which fronts on the Hudson River, and will convert it into a county park.

Justice declared his syndicate had collected subscriptions amounting to $300,000 and was prepared to pay $300,000 more on a mortgage for the property, which was to be used for a park for negroes. William Delavan Baldwin, president of the Westchester County Commission, denied there had been any discrimination against negroes in the purchase.

LOVELORN ACTRESS KILLS SELF

Opera Comique Star in Paris Fires Bullet Into Head.

Copyright, 1923, by The Press and Publications Co., New York and Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, Aug. 28.—Disappointed in love, Haronne Dupin, 32, otherwise known as Mary Dorska, leading player of the Opera Comique, early yesterday stood before her mirror and shot and killed herself.

In the same room was a woman guard who had been placed there after the actress tried to poison herself last week. The guard was asleep when, about 4 o'clock, Dorska rose, wrote four letters of farewell to her planning her act, and then shot herself in the head. She was to have opened a new season at the Opera Comique soon as the star in "Salome," "Tosca" and "Manon."

AVIATORS REMAIN ALOFT; ESTABLISH TWO NEW RECORDS

Rockwell Field Aviators, in an Endurance Test, Pass 24-Hour Mark—Are Making 91½ Miles an Hour.

SHATTER A RECORD OF KELLY AND MAC READY

Two Blackberry Pies Nearly Wreck Hopes of Aviators —Receive Food and Fuel
in Mid-Air.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 28.—In a plane that takes on fuel and food in mid-air with the same ease that an express train's locomotive scoops up water en route, Capt. Lowell H.
Smith and Lieut. John P. Richter, circling a course above San Diego this morning passed the 24-hour mark in their air marathon.

They "hopped off" from Rockwell
Field at 5:04:17 a. m. yesterday.
During the 24 hours, they refueled and replenished several times, receiving supplies from another plane.
Early today they had broken two speed records, those for 2500 and 3000 kilometers.

They flew 2500 kilometers in 17 hours, 52 minutes, 44.4 seconds.
They made the previous record last June 28, 18 hours, 15 minutes, 8 1-5 seconds.

Hope to Stay Up 45 Hours.
The 3000 kilometers they made in 21 hours and 11 minutes. The previous record—26 hours, 1 minute, 32 seconds—was made by Lieuts. Oakley Kelly and John A. MacReady.

The latest report today indicated that Smith and Richter were making an average speed of 91½ miles an hour, and that they would remain aloft at least 45 hours, thus breaking all endurance records.

Meanwhile, if luck stays with them, various speed and distance records will fall.

However, two blackberry pies in a metal-lined bucket, to which was attached 50 pounds of lead, nearly wrecked the hopes of Smith and Richter.

The incident occurred at 11:50 a.
m. when the fliers signalled for luncheon.

Blackberry Pies Saved.

Another plane was sent aloft and made contact with Smith and Richter's craft, lowering the pies and some sandwiches. Richter was standing in the cockpit and had grasped the bucket containing the pies when a sudden gust of wind caused the upper plane to nose up. For a few seconds Richter, clinging to the bucket, was lifted off his feet.

Capt. Robert G. Ervin, pilot of the second plane, quickly whipped the nose of his plane downward and Richter settled back in his seat with the blackberry pies and sandwiches in his hands.

The first contact was made at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Lieut.
Virgil Hines and Frank Selfert handling a re-fueling plane. Within three minutes, 90 gallons of gasoline was transferred to Smith and Richter's plane.

Additional contacts were made at 2, 4 and 5:30 p. m. for gasoline, and at 5 p. m. for lubricating oil and at 6 p. m. for food.

Another contact at 5:25 o'clock this morning replenished the plane with gas and oil. If the two officers remain in flight at 5:10 p. m. they will have made a new world's endurance record. Early today they dropped a note. It said: "Everything o. k. Going fine."

PANAMA CANAL EARNS 3 PER CENT ON AMOUNT IT COST

Tolls During Half of August Amounted to a Million, Says Governor of Zone.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Panama Canal is earning approximately $300,000 a month, or a fraction more than 3 per cent on the investment in its construction, said Col. J. J.
Morrow, Governor-General of the Canal Zone, who arrived on the Santa Ana yesterday. During the first 15 days of August he added, more than $1,000,000 in tolls was received.

Gov. Morrow expects to report to official Washington within the next few days.

COOLIDGE TO BE SPARING OF ADVICE TO LEGISLATORS

President Also Intimates He Won't Add Uncertainty to Business Situation Through Any Public Addresses.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Several interesting announcements as to the attitude of President Coolidge toward public questions were made today at the weekly meeting of the President with Washington correspondents.

The policy of President Coolidge toward Congress as outlined, precludes public discussion by him of prospective legislative recommendation and contemplates no resort to too severe advice to the legislators.
In line with this attitude, the President declined to reveal his position on the question of reducing taxes. He was said to feel that inasmuch as he is to deliver a message to Congress when it convenes in December, it would not be considerate to enter at this time upon a discussion of prospective legislation.

View of Business Situation.
The policy of President Coolidge on the general business situation was that the country needs primarily at the present time a feeling of stability, confidence and reassurance, and the knowledge that things are going on smoothly.

It was added that Mr. Coolidge proposes to do all within his power to aid in the development of such a feeling and to that end does not propose through public addresses to add any uncertainty. On the contrary, it was said, he will remain at his desk familiarizing himself with the duties of his office.

It was declared that discretion will be exercised by the President in making changes of rates under the flexible provisions of the tariff act.
The Tariff Commission is making a study of rates, and while the President will be guided largely by the commission's findings, he will be reluctant to make any change which might disrupt business.

The President also was said to be averse to the stirring up of political discussion at present because there will be plenty of time for such discussion later. He believes that the amenities of public life should be observed, and is anxious that full credit be given to those who are assisting him in the duties of Government.

Policy on Peace Suggestions.
And discussion in the public press of a policy looking to the abolition of war will be welcomed by Mr. Coolidge. This was stated in connection with the recent publication of a letter by the late President Harding suggesting such a discussion.

Mr. Coolidge has taken much interest in the offer by Edward Bok of a prize for a successful peace plan.
In July he discussed the subject with Bok in Maine.

Study of the agricultural situation has convinced the executive that improvement already has begun. Officials both of the War Finance Corporation and of the Farm Loan board have informed the President that conditions are assuring. The War Finance Corporation reported that payments on its loans to farmers are being met and that the call for credit has lessened. The loan board informed the executive that it has $25,000,000 ready to be extended in loans, and although there are some calls for credit of that type, they are not so numerous as they were some time ago.

NEWSBOY PICKING UP PENNIES KILLED BY AUTO

J. H. Houseman, 12, Son of Widow, Dies in Hospital Hour After Being Struck.

James H. Houseman, 12 years old, a newsboy, son of Mrs. Mary Houseman, a widow, of 5307 Barter avenue, was struck by an automobile at Union boulevard and Hadlamont trucks at 8 o'clock this morning, and died an hour later at St. Luke's Hospital from fracture of the skull.

Jack Irwin, 32, a mechanic, of 5352 Arlington avenue, driver of the automobile, took the boy to the hospital and then surrendered at Pace boulevard police station. He said the boy ran into the street, directly in front of his car, presumably to pick up some pennies that had been tossed to him from a street car, and that the accident was unavoidable.

HUGHES IS "UNQUALIFIEDLY BEHIND PRESIDENT COOLIDGE"

Secretary, On Way to Minneapolis.
Says Executive Will Win Good Opinion of Entire Country.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes spent a few hours in Chicago last evening before leaving for Minneapolis, where he will attend the meeting of the American Bar Association.

As Secretary Hughes boarded his train, in reply to questions of reporters, he expressed his unqualified support of President Coolidge, and predicted that the new President would soon win the good opinion of the entire country.

"Of course, I do not want to discuss politics," he said. "But you can quote me as saying that I am unqualifiedly behind President Coolidge."

Secretary Hughes made the statement in reply to a question by a reporter as to whether he desired to declare for the nomination of President Coolidge next year.

A BERLIN FAMILY POISONED

Gathered and Ate What They Thought Were Mushrooms.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Nine members of one family died today from eating what they thought were mushrooms, bringing the total deaths from this cause in Berlin within the last 24 hours to 18. Today's victims were a barber, his wife and seven of his children. The two remaining children are ill, with little hope of recovery.

Similar cases have been reported recently from various parts of Germany. They are said by the authorities to be due indirectly to the high cost of vegetables, many townspeople going to the country in search of mushrooms, and picking poisonous fungi by mistake.

ARRESTED CROSSING INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE

$250,000 Embezzlement of Bonds and Ruin of Insurance Company Charged to Joseph Marcino.

By the Associated Press.
LAREDO, Tex., Aug. 28.—Orders are awaited here for the return to Chicago of Joseph Marcino, alias Joseph Biata, wanted in that city and in Warren, Mass., on charges of absconding with bonds valued at $250,- 000.

Marcino, whose rise from barber to banker attracted nation-wide interest, was arrested here yesterday by an agent of the United States Department of Justice as he crossed the international bridge.

Marcino is charged with embezzling $213,000 from the First National Bank of Warren, Mass. He disappeared in February. Department of Justice agents say they believe he has been in Mexico since.

Marcino's bond was fixed at $100,- 000 by the United States Commissioner before whom he was taken.
He is being held in the Webb County jail pending the removal of the charges.

Although he had grown a beard and was disguised otherwise, officers said he admitted his identity.

The disappearance of Marcino resulted in the wrecking of the Niagara Life Insurance Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., in connection with which Frank L.
Taylor, a Chicago clerk and former railroad brakeman, is serving a prison sentence. Taylor was alleged to have been the chief tool by means of which Marcino controlled the Niagara company.

Story of Marcino's Connection With Wrecked Concern.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 28.—The arrest at Laredo, Tex., of Joseph B.
Marcino opens the final chapter in the story of the wrecking of the Niagara Life Insurance Co. of Buffalo. Control of the company was transferred to the State Insurance Department last February after Mar-cino's disappearance.

Marcino was not a director of the Niagara Life, but was alleged to have manipulated it through dummy directors, one of whom the president of the Warren Bank which closed a week after the condition of the Niagara Life came to light, and two weeks after Marcino was last seen in this country.

Feb. 14 Justice Alonso G. Hinkley granted the application of the New York State Superintendent of Insurance to take over control of the Niagara Life.

Dummy Officers.

Frank L. Taylor, $50-a-week president of the Warren Bank, was alleged to have been the instrument by which Marcino controlled the Niagara Life Insurance Co. Taylor was said to have charge of the Bizon Holding Co., which controlled the Niagara stock and was purchased by Marcino.

A statement issued at the time of the application for State control of the Niagara Life Insurance Co. said Marcino gained control of the company through dummy officers and directors of his own selection. He caused large blocks of bonds and securities to be sold, and transferred the proceeds, aggregating $200,000, to the Mechanics and Merchants' Bank of Philadelphia, one of Mar-cino's creations, which also failed.

After the funds were deposited there,
Stoddard declared the bank made 33 loans, totaling $200,000, to dummies of Marcino.

Each was secured by the Niagara Life Insurance Co.
The Bizon Holding Co., which Mar-cino purchased for $150,000 after borrowing $125,000 from a Buffalo company, borrowed $125,000 from a New York trust company.

The loan was said to have been obtained by the Niagara Life Insurance Co. at Marcino's instance. It was through the dummy officers and directors of his own selection that caused the State to take over control of the Niagara Life, on the ground that it had violated its charter in allowing Marcino, who was not an official or director, to control its business affairs.

SENATE CORDWON IN A PREMATURE BLAZE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Fire of undetermined origin in the basement of the United States Capitol early today was extinguished before it spread to other parts of the building.

Hundreds of gallons of water were poured into the basement. The flames were confined to a room in the Senate office building. There was no estimate of the damage.

weekly Cabinet meeting again

Coolidge, and Cabinet members were informed that no meetings would be held for an indefinite period, or until those Cabinet officials now on va-

NAMED NEW PREMIER OF JAPAN

COUNT YAMAMOTO.

ADMIRAL YAMAMOTO IS PREMIER OF JAPAN

Chosen as Successor of Admiral Kato Who Died Last Friday.

Special Wireless to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News. (Copyright, 1924.)
TOKIO, Aug. 28.—Admiral Count Yamamoto, in an imperial decree promulgated today, was named as Japan's new Premier, succeeding Admiral Baron Kato, who died last Friday.

Selection of Admiral Yamamoto was made by Princes Saloni and Matsukata, surviving members of the Elder Statesmen group, with whom rested the final choice of Government leader, according to the custom prevailing in Japan since constitutional government was inaugurated.

Gombei Yamamoto has had a wide and varied career in the service of his country.

Born in 1852 in the province of Satsuma, Yamamoto fought in the War of the Restoration on the imperial side. He graduated from the Japanese Naval Academy with the pioneer class of 1877, after which he served aboard a training vessel that visited America. He later made a voyage around the world on board a German warship.

In 1880 Yamamoto was promoted to a Lieutenant and was made vice commander of the Japanese cruiser Asama. A second visit to the United States was made by the young naval officer in 1887 as a member of the suite of the then Vice Minister of the Navy, Admiral Kabayama.

He was gazetted Rear Admiral in 1895; Vice Minister of the Navy in 1896, then Vice Admiral and Minis-

EXPLAINS SECRECY ON BIDS FOR U. S. MERCHANT SHIPS

Chairman of Board Says None Was Acceptable and to Make Them Public Would Complicate Problem.

EVERY OFFER HAD STRING ATTACHED

Prices Ridiculously Low, He Asserts, and to Publish Them Would Disparage Merchant Marine.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The United States Shipping Board, custodians of the most troublesome of all the white elephants left over from the war—the Government-owned merchant fleet—opened bids last May 25 for the purchase of ships on one or more of 18 routes specified by the board in an advertisement. Three months have elapsed since that date without the board's having made public any of the bids received.

The attention of Chairman Edward P. Farley of the board was called today to criticisms growing out of this policy of silence. He was asked whether he was now willing to disclose the bids and, if not, what were his reasons for declining.

None of Bids Acceptable.
Farley said, in reply, that not one of the bids was acceptable and that to make them public would only complicate the problem of getting the ships off the hands of the Government at a fair price. The best that could be said of the proposals, he added, was that some of them formed the basis of further negotiations. This was true in about five cases, in which negotiations were still being carried on. He was hopeful that some of the ships would be sold as a result.

Every bid received, Farley said, had some string attached and that he didn't want a Government guarantee of some sort, he probably wanted some change in the advertised terms requiring operation over a specified trade route for five years. The prices offered, in Farley's opinion, were ridiculously low. To publish them, he said, would disparage the merchant marine and strengthen the hand of the interests that don't want the ships sold at all, but want the present operating arrangement continued.

Unique and Delicate Business.
Selling a ship, according to Farley, is a unique and delicate business. It is not like selling a house, for which there is a considerable market. Only a comparatively few buyers are interested in ships, and sales advantageous to the Government can only be made by playing off one bidder against another.

Farley said that bidders would like nothing better than to see what prices were being offered by others. He felt that the Government ought to take what help it could get from cloaking the bids in secrecy. All the bidders, he said, were naturally out to drive as hard a bargain as they could, as was always true in the dealings of private interests with the Government.

Exactly," agreed the chairman. Cash Trade Route a Problem.
Chairman Farley was asked what he considered a fair average price per ton for the ships being offered for sale. He hesitated to fix a definite figure, but indicated that the board had in mind a price around $30. He qualified this by saying that lower prices might be acceptable in certain cases, depending on the character of the guarantees required by the Government. It was impossible, he said, to make any general statement about the trade routes, as each was a problem in itself.

Farley said that the effort to sell ships was wholly independent of the plan which the board has worked out and submitted to President

COOLIDGE TELLS THE PRESS HOW TO HELP GOVERNMENT

Every Newspaper Should Always Make the Authority of the Law Supreme, President Asserts.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—Undivided allegiance to the Constitution and unhesitating obedience to legislative action were urged upon the press of the nation by President Coolidge, in a letter to A. G. Newmyer, president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, made public here today.

The President's letter was in reply to one written by Newmyer, who asked the executive to send him a terse, exclusive message for the Southern publishers, broadly answering the question as to how the newspapers can best serve the Federal Government at this time, as he was personally anxious to have the membership of the association cooperate with the administration in every manner consistent with their individual policies.

The letter to Newmyer, who also is an official of the New Orleans Item, follows:
"My Dear Mr. Newmyer:
"Your very kind message and the general assurances which it contain, of support on the part of the newspapers of your association, has been received. Every newspaper can be very helpful in its support of the Government, whether it be state or national. Fundamentally, this means always making the authority of the law supreme. It means undivided allegiance to the Constitution and unhesitating obedience to legislative action made in accordance with its provisions.

"Constructive criticism is always helpful. It keeps institutions from becoming fossilized and falling into decay. But constructive criticism does not accomplish its purpose merely by pointing out what is evil. It must not fail to direct attention to the good, to what is better. Our institutions, our social organization, our economic condition, are all of a quality and quantity which are worthy of our highest admiration. I believe that it will be exceedingly helpful to public sentiment if these principles and ideals are emphasized, to what is joined with a reverence for religion and an aspiration for better things. "Very truly yours,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Coolidge for the organization of a number of subsidiary Government-owned corporations to operate the Government fleet. This plan, he said, was applicable to the remaining ships after whatever sales might be made. It would take the place of the present scheme whereby "managing operators" run the ships for a percentage of the gross receipts—5 per cent on outbound and 2 1/2 per cent on inbound tonnage. Under this arrangement, which has been much criticized, the Government assumes all the risk. The managing operator takes his commission whether the Government makes any profit or not. The scheme was highly unsatisfactory.

Negotiating With Some Bidders.
Farley said, in reply to a question, that Norton, Lilly & Co. of New York were among the bidders for trade routes with whom negotiations are now in progress. He ventured the opinion that inquiries would show they had no complaint against the board.

Farley was told of a specific criticism to the effect that the board was selling a combination passenger and cargo vessel, the City of Los Angeles, formerly the Aetolus, of 12,950 dead weight tons, for $100,000, though the Government had spent $2,000,000 on reconditioning the ship.

"Yes," he agreed readily, "that is the fact, though I think that nearer $2,000,000 had been spent on reconditioning the ship. The Aetolus is a ship over 20 years old. We were having constant trouble with her. She was tried by the Munson Line in the South American trade but couldn't make a go of it. She had broken down on her last four or five trips between Los Angeles and Honolulu.

Considers It Good Bargain.
The Los Angeles Steamship Co., to which she was sold, agreed to spend $400,000 to $500,000 on reconditioning her and to keep her in the trade with the Hawaiian Islands. It was a case of our spending that much on her or someone else spending it. I wish we could drive as good a bargain with some of our other ships.

The money spent on the Aetolus, Farley added, was spent by previous shipping boards, not this one. She was sold by us after a special advertisement. The Los Angeles Steamship Co.'s bid was the only one received.

Farley and his colleagues have 1200 Government-owned ships for sale. Anybody who buys one will decrease their problem by just that much.

"The game appears to be the same, on a larger scale, as beating the customers," suggested the correspondent.

Exactly," agreed the chairman. Cash Trade Route a Problem.
Chairman Farley was asked what he considered a fair average price per ton for the ships being offered for sale. He hesitated to fix a definite figure, but indicated that the board had in mind a price around $30. He qualified this by saying that lower prices might be acceptable in certain cases, depending on the character of the guarantees required by the Government. Slaughter was sentenced to serve six years on the first count and five years on the second count.

Gang Fight Outside Courtroom.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Several men were shot during a gang fight outside Essex Court today, soon after seven members of the notorious Kild Doherty gang had been discharged because of inability to connect them with shooting last week. The courtroom was thrown into an uproar. A call was sent for police reserves and ambulances.

draw the attention of the British Government and of the allied Governments generally to the importance of this problem.

"As long as the security of countries is threatened by an invasion has not been assured, there will be no true pacification nor serious reduction of armaments. The solution of this grave problem would certainly have a most favorable influence on the other questions now under discussion. Therefore, the Belgian Government can only on one condition desire to discuss this question with the British Government."

French Working a Ruhr Coal Mine
By the Associated Press.
DORTMUND, Aug. 28.—The occupation of the Ruhr by French troops today was described as a "step backward."

French forces took over the five shafts of the Victor Mine, near this city, and delivered the ultimatum to the miners that either they continue at work for the occupiers or the mine will be closed. The ultimatum expired at noon yesterday, when the bulk of the German population decided to continue and 200 French miners took over all emergency work. The German pumping crew and foremen were ordered to remain in the mine to work for the French and several miners asked for permission to remain. Negotiations for their retention are continuing.

The Victor Mine belongs to a private company headed by Peter Klockner, and has a productive capacity of from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 tons annually. The coking of 350,000 tons, which was also occupied for exploitation, has an annual capacity of about 700,000 tons.

French Skeptical of Reported German Plan for Negotiations.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Aug. 28.—Rumors from various sources that Germany is preparing to open direct negotiations with France for a settlement of the reparations problem have been met with great indifference in official quarters today, where it was said that there was only one serious way of opening negotiations, and that was for one of the parties to address the other through regular diplomatic channels.

Until this is done, the French Foreign Office expressed its skepticism of any other signs of Germany's intention to talk. Participation by German manufacturers and industrial leaders in the Franco-Belgian administration of the Rhineland and Ruhr railways, which it has been reported has been suggested by the son of Hugo Stinnes, who would act as the representative of the German interests, is regarded here as a Stinnes dream.

Little or No Advance Toward Solution.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 28.—Belgium's latest reparations note, made public today in Paris, is considered by British Government officials, to whom it was addressed, as offering little or no advance toward a solution of the Ruhr impasse.

But, nevertheless, the Ruhr occupation remains in principle, in spirit and in form essentially a taking of pledges.

The day passed resistance ceases the Belgian Government will draw up with the French Government measures designed to assure a progressive return to the status quo envisaged on Jan. 10, last. An important change will then come about and we shall be glad if the stage held could then made the object of inter-allied control.

"In addition, the French and Belgian Governments have declared many times that they intended to give up this guarantee in proportion as Germany executes her reparations obligations."

REDS IN GERMANY BEGIN NEW MOVE TO GAIN CONTROL

Plans for General Strike Being Laid and Socialists Are Reported Panicky Over Communists' Headway.

By SAMUEL SPEWACK, A Staff Correspondent of the Post- Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The German Government has received what it regards as "two blows under the belt." The first was Premier Poincare's speech; the second the failure of Chancellor Stresemann's trip to Bavaria to get the reactionaries there behind him. Consequently, the same discontent which dislodged the Cuno government is beginning to work on the present ministry.

Reactionaries are beginning a second attempt to assume power and are organizing a new general strike. Money circulation has doubled in the last three days, reaching 234 trillion paper marks, and the Socialists are panicky because of the gains which Reds are making in the trade unions.

Prices are rising and it is feared the Government's proposed financial reforms, some too late. Two months must elapse before the new tax shows any effect and already the Government has spent two-thirds of its expected yield for advance salaries for functionaries. A step backward, Hugo Stinnes' Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung calls it, hoping for some good result from the expected Baldwin cabinet. The Chancellor, however, told friends he was disappointed, especially as his proposal to begin the reparations discussion by determining Germany's already paid was roughly brushed aside by the French Premier.

Stresemann Urges Agreement Between France, Britain and Germany.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 28.—Dr. Gustave Stresemann, the German Chancellor, interviewed in Berlin by a special correspondent of the Daily Graphic, is quoted as having said:

"If my Government fails, perhaps the last 'burgerlich' Chancellor of Germany. It may be so. But if that happens it will be more of Europe than of Germany which will succumb to bolshevism."

Dr. Stresemann advocated a triple understanding between France, Great Britain and Germany. He said such a general agreement was the only thing that possibly could bring peace to Europe.

English Socialist Save Ruhr Workers' Dread Food Shortage.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The English Socialist, Tom Shaw, secretary to the Workers' Socialist International Executive Committee, has just completed investigations and conferences in the Ruhr. He declared today that the miners and other workers are in a desperate straits due to a lack of work and difficulties in transportation.

In the Vorwarts, Shaw says the Ruhr miners and workers are representatives told him that a settlement of the Ruhr conflict is not acceptable which does not: First, assure the freedom of the workers, whether or not French occupation is continued; second, permit expelled families to return to their homes; and third, assure them that there will be no further expropriation of the Ruhr workers are ready to give up passive resistance, he continues.

2 'ORIGINALS' OF VERSE ON DEWEY TOPIC OF DEBATE

Restaurant Asserts Ware Wrote Piece on Back of Menu Card —Others Dispute Claim.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 28.—Whether the late Eugene Ware, Kansas poet-lawyer of near a generation ago, wrote his bit of verse, "Dewey," on the back of a restaurant menu card or on regulation copy paper at his office, is to be the subject of debate tonight at the Topeka Press Club.

Involved in the controversy is the authenticity of one of the choice relics of the Kansas Historical Society. It has a framed copy of Ware's verse in the author's handwriting and asserted to be "the original."

Recently a local restaurant published a facsimile of the "original" on the back of its menu card with the notation that the original was drafted by Ware, who was known as "Ironquill," on the back of a menu card while lunching at that restaurant.

J. W. Jedd, a Topeka attorney, is reported to have related that he was with Ware in the restaurant at the time, and on the other hand, J. Frank Jarrell, who at the time was city editor of the Topeka Capital, contends Ware wrote the poem at his request, and that he wrote it at his law office.

The verse was published a few days after Admiral Dewey's victory at Manila Bay. It follows:
O Dewey was the morning
Upon the first of May,
And Dewey was the Admiral,
Down in Manila Bay.
And Dewey was the regent's eyes,
Thy eyes of royal blue!
And do we feel discouraged?
I dew not think we dew.

Experiencing Trouble.

By the Associated Press.

MAIDSTONE, England, Aug. 28.—Three Americans were among the 10 persons injured when a French passenger airplane fell to earth near Maidstone last night. One passenger was killed.

The names of the Americans hurt are: Mrs. Douglas Smith, who suffered broken nasal bones and cuts on her body; Douglas Smith, who suffered a fractured elbow, and Albert M. Austin suffering from shock. They are being cared for in the home of a physician at Maidstone, near here.

The Smiths live at Hartford, Conn., and Austin in New York lawyer. Mrs. Smith said today that the airplane had had trouble before the accident and was forced to descend near the coast.

"Just before the accident occurred," she continued, "I changed places from the front to the rear of the machine, when we were ordered to do so. We knew something was wrong. The weather was heavy and stormy."

"I thought we were going to make a forced landing just before we crashed, but suddenly we went right up again and again swerved violently."

"We seemed to be swaying from side to side and then came a sickening downward rush. It is a miracle that we are alive."

The pilot of the machine, realizing that a crash was coming, shut off the engine and to this precaution is ascribed the fact that the wreckage did not take fire.

Announces He Will Talk

Later in Day—May Suggest

TERMS OF POSSIBLE PROPOSAL SECRET

Demands of Miners' Union
Not Reduced at Sessions With Pennsylvania Governor, It Is Stated.

Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—Gov. Pinchot concluded today the first stage of his mediation in the anthracite wage controversy which promises to tie up the mines Sept. 1. In an executive session nearly two hours long, the spokesman of the anthracite operators explained to Gov. Pinchot why they only offered arbitration in response to the union's demand. The miners' representatives were silent yesterday.

After the conclusion of the meeting, the Governor was silent as to the course of discussion. He announced, however, that later in the day he would see both sides again. Observers considered it probable that at the latter sessions he would advance his own proposal, compromising the differences. The terms of the compromise suggestion were kept secret.

The union demand for a $2 a day increase for workers paid by the ton, a 10 per cent increase in contract rates for mining coal and in the "check-off" system of coal collection, have not been reduced at the sessions with the Governor.

Gov. Pinchot, in the intervals between his conferences today, conferred with official and unofficial advisers. He had invited "some men qualified to give experience" to assist him, as well as representatives of the Federal Coal Commission. W. B. Calkins, who was economic adviser to the United Mine Workers during former arbitration proceedings, and W. B. Calkins, former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, which conducted cost accounting investigations in the mining field during the tenure of office, were among those to whom the Governor referred.

Governors Promise Co-operation With Fuel Distributors.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Governors of the Federal Coal Commission today a resolution, submitted by Gov. Calkins of Massachusetts, pledging co-operation with Federal Fuel Distributors in his efforts to supply the country with fuel.

The resolution, adopted after representatives of the Bituminous Coal Producers Association had been heard, then told that the conference was not open to them or to newspaper men, following.

It is the sentiment of the representatives of the anthracite consuming states that their local organizations will co-operate to the fullest extent in any plan approved by the Federal fuel distributor which will secure to consumers a maximum of fuel.

The conference then adjourned to 10 p. m., with the representatives apparently confident that their pledges of co-operation would mean the immediate distribution of available anthracite and substitute fuels. Railroad officials controlling the coal shipping lines, present at the conference, pledged full co-operation.

COOLIDGE RECOGNIZING STATE RIGHTS IN DEALING WITH COAL CRISIS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The anthracite situation, it was said here today, was being considered by President Coolidge in the light of the constitutional division of authority between the United States and the states. It was pointed out that the Supreme Court had held that coal becomes of interest to the Federal Government only after the operation of mining is completed.

President Coolidge Believes Progress Is Being Made.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—White House officials said today that President Coolidge believed "good progress" was being made in the effort to avert suspension of work in the anthracite fields and saw no reason to lose confidence in the outcome.

The committee has started a survey of all available storage space in 100 important industrial centers of the United States, and will submit a report to the Federal Coal Commission next week. A preliminary report probably will be made much sooner. A campaign will be started, it was indicated, to educate the public to store coal in all available space in the black season and to educate those who store it as to the proper method to prevent disintegration and fire.

Scale Committee of One Anthracite District to Meet Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 28.—Thomas Kennedy, president of District No. 7 of the United Mine Workers and chairman of the Scale Committee of the anthracite miners, telephoned today to Harrisburg calling the members of the Scale Committee of the district to Harrisburg for a meeting tomorrow.

While Kennedy gave no details, the members of the committee were inclined to believe a proposition had been made at the conference with Gov. Pinchot which required action by the entire committee from the hard coal fields.

WHERRY AVENUE DISTRICT SEWER PLANS ARE APPROVED

Project to Drain About 500 Acres in Southwest St. Louis Estimated to Cost $622,900.

Plans for an ordinance to construct a main sewer with two lateral sewers in the Wherry avenue district, about 500 acres, from two blocks west of King's highway to Hampton boulevard, and between Sublette and Loughborough avenues, were approved today by the Board of Public Service.

Estimated cost of the improvement is $622,900. Petitions for sewer construction have been brought up from time to time for the last 15 years, but have been fought by truck gardeners, who maintained that the value of their property would not stand the special taxes. About half the section was subdivided 20 years ago, and other subdivisions have been made within recent years until no truck farmers remain to fight the improvement.

Condemnation proceedings now in court are opposed by Cyrus Crane Williams, who owns 50 acres adjacent to the River des Peres, through which condemnation of a 30-foot strip is proposed. About 15 residents appeared before the board today to urge that the improvements be put through.

OPPOSING GROUPO CAUSE TUMULT AT GRODSKY MEETING

Rabbi's Supporters Do Most of Talking at Synagogue Session Originally Called by His Critics.

Supporters of Rabbi Jacob Grodsky, under bond on a Federal charge of selling ritual wine unlawfully, did most of the talking in the meeting held last night at Chased Shel Emeth Synagogue, Page and Euclid avenues, and called originally by those who desired the Jewish community to repudiate Grodsky.

Because of the tumultuous state of the meeting, no vote was taken formally on any matter. The chairman, Rabbi Abraham Halpern of B'nai Ammona Congregation, had a resolution asking Congress and the State Legislature to police the legal provisions for the sale of ritual wine to Jews. He spoke advocating this resolution, but it was not put to a vote, and Rabbi Halpern announced at the end that those who were asked to sign the resolution could call at his home, 5418 Cabanne avenue. He said those who opposed the resolution could put up one of their own, if they desired to.

Resolution Is Read.

The meeting was held in a small basement room, though the auditorium upstairs is much larger. Coolidge in the light of the constitutional division of authority between the United States and the states. It was pointed out that the Supreme Court had held that coal becomes of interest to the Federal Government only after the operation of mining is completed.

At This Point the Delegation Sent from Sunday's Meeting.

At this point the delegation sent from Sunday's meeting, a rabbi, sided at Sunday's meeting, claimed the privilege of questioning the chairman. When asked what synagogue he represented he said, "Fourteenth and Wash," not giving the name of the synagogue. "Fourteenth and Carr," another of the delegation reminded him, and Bender hoped to ask by what authority the meeting was held, and whether lodges, as well as synagogues, had been invited to send delegates. A member of the audience objected to the "cross-questioning" of the chairman by the lawyer. Another man, who did not give his name, but who spoke eloquently, then argued in favor of the resolution, saying that the charges against Grodsky constituted a disgrace to the Jewish race. "A few more cases of this sort," he said, "and we will be in the same class with the dago bootleggers."

Grodskys Are Aroused.

The last expression aroused the ire of the Grodskys, and from that point the meeting was in confusion. Most of the men were on their feet for most of the time and the chairs were almost incessant. Sam Arky, pro-Grodskite, tried to make a speech advocating light wines and beer. Bender got in a few sentences to the effect that if the Jews were disgraced, it was not by Grodsky, but by the actions of his opponents. Harry Hoffman, a Grodsky supporter, made himself heard in English and in Yiddish.

When a speaker asked what the Jews would do without wine on the approaching holy days, a number of women, who were sitting on benches around the side of the room, joined their cries of protest to the jangling voices of the men. Rabbi Halpern finally declared the meeting ad- journed, without a vote on the resolu- tion.

A silent figure in the meeting was Frank Lipman, president of Sharis Stard congregation. Fifteenth and Grodsky a few days ago. At Sun- day's meeting, some of the speakers made untoward expressions as to Lipman. J. H. Koplusvitch of 2025 Wash street, who made the purchase of champagne with caused Grodsky's arrest, was also present. Koplusvitch was at Sunday's meeting, and left after hearing several hostile expres- sions, but was attacked by two men in Carr street, and had to be escorted by a policeman to his home.

William C. Cooper, assistant division chief of prohibition agents for Missouri, came here from Kansas City this morning in order to get an idea of the Jewish senti- ment on the ritual wine question. George Bauserwein, general agent in charge of the local enforcement squad, was also at the meeting.

KLAN SPEAKERS RESCUED FROM CROWD BY POLICE

Two Men Take Refuge in Office Building at Binghamton, N. Y., Where Officers Hold Back Pursuers.

By the Associated Press.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Three men were rescued by the police last night after a protest meeting called by the Ku Klux Klan had been broken up in rioting and fighting in which several hundred men participated.

Two Klan members identified as speakers at the open-air meeting, and who refused to reveal their identities, were hooted down. The rioting started when Klan members in the crowd attempted to applaud the efforts of men on the platform to speak. Robert E. Platt was pursued by one crowd and took refuge in a street car which his pursuers attacked and partly wrecked in their efforts to reach him. He was rescued by police and placed under arrest on an open charge.

The two would-be speakers also were pursued by a crowd. They took refuge in a downtown office building where the police held off the crowds until midnight, when it dispersed.

The meeting had been called to protest against the Mayor's refusal to issue a permit to the Klan to hold a State Klan convention here Sept. 3.

Klan Parade at Oklahoma Town De- spised Counter Demonstration.

By the Associated Press.

BARTLESVILLE, Ok., Aug. 28.—A parade was staged in Bartlesville last night by the Ku Klux Klan with no disorder despite earlier indications that the demonstration might bring a clash between the paraders and opponents of the Klan.

There was no attempt at inter- ference with the parade. A score of special policemen, armed with rifles and shotguns, were on the streets ready for any emergency.

Anti-Klansmen attended a meeting before the parade at which Arthur Fitzpatrick, an attorney, declared he would be killed before the "American flag was carried down the street by Klansmen." The anti-Klan meeting was called by Fitzpatrick.

During the parade nothing was seen of Fitzpatrick. A large Ameri- can flag was carried at the head of the procession.

The parade left the baseball park at 8 o'clock, half an hour later than scheduled, moved down the main street past the City Hall and returned to the park, where it had formed. By actual count there were 272 Klansmen in the parade, about one-third of whom were mounted.

Klansman Gets Two Years for Part in Flogging of Woman.

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., Aug. 28.—William Arthur Finley, Constable at Broken Arrow, yesterday was sentenced to two years' imprisonment for participation in the whipping of Leslie Goolsby and Mrs. Myrtle Spain, now Mrs. Goolsby, on the night of July 29, 1922. Finley admitted he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Finley confessed having turned over Goolsby and Mrs. Spain to a band of whippers and pleaded guilty to a charge of riot. He received the minimum penalty.

Four men are jointly charged with implication in offense for which Finley was sentenced, only two of whom have been arrested. T. H. Matthew, retired merchant of Broken Arrow, and W. M. Bille, Brokerage Arrow transfer man, were the two arrested. They entered pleas of not guilty and were released on bond.

The others are George Bradshaw, City Marshal of Broken Arrow, and Harvey Acres. Officers visited Broken Arrow yesterday, but did not arrest Bradshaw. Adjutant-General Markham was in conference during the afternoon with Mayor Keener of Broken Arrow.

Constable Finley is the first public official to be caught in the investiga- tion being conducted by Adjutant- General Markham into mob activities in the County.

PRICE OF MILK TO GO UP; DRIVERS TO GET MORE PAY

Advance of One Cent in Cost to Consumers Probable; 10 Per Cent Wage Increase Gives
Men $35.75 to $46.75 a Week.

Milk distributors said today that it was probable they would advance the price of milk to householders 1 cent, from 13 to 14 cents a quart, and from 7 to 8 cents a pint, on Sept. 15, to meet a 10 per cent increase in wages granted to milk wagon drivers at the conclusion of conferences yesterday. They said the drivers had demanded increases ranging from 15 to 15 per cent.

Drivers, who now get $32.50 a week, plus commission on sales, will receive $35.75 after Sept. 15. Route foremen, who receive $42.50, will be advanced to $46.75. The men have been allowed a week's vacation. They now will be allowed 10 days.

About 600 employees of seven large distributing companies are affected. The men are members of Milk Wagon Drivers' Local Union No. 603. J. P. Cabanne, president of the St. Louis Dairy Co., said the wholesale price of milk recently had been increased from $1.80 to $2.10 per 100 pounds (33 quarts) but that no increase had been made in the retail price.

farmer living near Broken Arrow. Goolsby and Mrs. Spain, then the wife of "Dare Devil Slim" Spain, a parachute jumper, were placed in the hands of the whipping band after their arrest on statutory charges. Spain fell to his death at Seneca, Mo., a few days after the flogging and Goolsby and Mrs. Spain then were married.

Finley was turned over to the mili- tary authorities by Sheriff Bob San- ford under authority of a telegram from Gov. J. C. Walton. The tele- gram granted a 15-day stay of execu- tion and explained that the military desired to use Finley further in the investigation.

WIFE ENDS LIFE AFTER QUARREL WITH HUSBAND

Russell Brandt, Returning Home,
Bent on Reconciliation, Finds Her Asphyxiated.

Mrs. Alice Brandt, 18 years old, of 1321 South Eleventh street, was found dead in the kitchen of her home at 6:40 o'clock last night. She was seated on a chair near the oven of a gas range, the burners of which were open. The room was filled with gas.

He returned to his own home two hours later, he said, accompanied by his parents, in the hope that he could induce his wife to make up with him. Finding the doors and windows locked, he forced entrance to the house and found his wife dead. Mrs. Brandt's effects, packed, were in the front room. ## LABOR LEADER ATTACKS U. S. JUDICIAL SYSTEM

Head of Illinois Federation Says All Judges Should Be Elected to Office.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 22.—Popular election of Federal Judges is recommended by President John H. Walker of the Illinois Federation of Labor, in his Labor day statement issued here, as the only sure "under our Constitution and laws" of the "injunction evil," which he declared "overshadows everything else in importance affecting the lives of the plain people, and involves even the existence of our form of Government itself."

"Little by little," according to the statement, "injunctions have been extended until they now apply to every conceivable phase of activities on the part of the workers that an employer wants to stifle."

"The culmination of these usurpations was reached recently when a former corporation lobbyist who had been appointed to the position of Federal District Judge, issued an injunction which abrogated the Constitution of the United States. It silenced hundreds of thousands of men's tongues, bound their arms, blinded their eyes, shackled them physically so that they could not go about or meet, and prevented them from using their money to support their brothers' wives and children who were in distress."

"This man, by this process, has enacted laws governing the working people which Congress refused to enact. We have the spectacle of a great nation ruled by one individual, whose edict has destroyed the basic laws of our country and set up the wishes of the corporations in their place."

"It appears that there is one way by which this can be remedied within the provisions of our laws, and that is to see to it that only men are elected to office who appoint these Judges, and that they will appoint men responsive to the needs and desires of the great mass of the people of our country, and at the same time, devise ways and means to the end that Judges, instead of being appointed, will be required to submit themselves as candidates for election at the polls, so that the people by their votes, may choose the men who exercise these powers."

"This is about the only way in which this matter can be changed under our Constitution and under our laws as interpreted by these Courts in the past, because they have proven that no matter what kind of amendments may be made to the laws of our nation, if they interfere with this power, which the Judges usurped, they will declare them unconstitutional and void, and the processes of amending the Constitution are such as to make it almost impossible to rectify this evil in that way. It seems that the simplest way out of it, as well as the way which seems to be the one that will enable us to reach this evil most quickly and effectively, is by pursuing the course above outlined, until such change has been brought about, either through the election and appointment of Judges who are responsive to the basic laws of the United States, and to the needs and desires of our people, or through amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the exercise of this power."

"Ours, so far as the working people are concerned, will not be a republic, will not be a democracy, because in their most vital aspects of life the workers are subject to the will of irresponsible individuals, perhaps influenced by sinister reactionary influences, and there is no surety that even smaller caliber men, with less conscience and scruple, by some hook or crook, will not be appointed to the position of Judge and through this usurpation of power, abrogate all law and constitutional rights and liberties, and substitute their own individual wishes, may impose even worse things on the American people than have been imposed."

RELEASED ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Lawyer Gets Writ of Habeas Corpus in Circuit Court.

Phillip Pollack, a lawyer, who was adjudged in contempt of court for refusing to give a deposition in a suit pending in the Probate Court against the estate of Frederick Moll, liquor dealer, yesterday obtained a writ of habeas corpus from Circuit Judge Mix. Notary Public W. H. Gorcoran had directed that Pollack go to jail and stay until he was ready to testify, but the Circuit Court's order freed him until Sept. 2 when the habeas corpus petition will be taken up.

The Probate Court case is that of Mrs. May Hickey Moll, who seeks to establish a widow's right to Moll's estate, valued at $150,000, maintaining that she was his common-law wife. Pollack, who is executor of the estate, contends that there is no provision in law for the taking of a deposition in a proceeding such as the claimant filed.

POLICE BEGIN ENFORCING LAW FOR CHECK ON ALL MOVERS

Ordinance Calls for Department to Enforce It, Is Decision Finally Reached.

The Police Board yesterday started enforcing the ordinance requiring the department to keep tabs on movers. The ordinance was effective July 26, but the department was not aware it had been passed and President Brookman of the board started a fight on the grounds that this work properly belonged elsewhere and the police already were overburdened. He pointed out that last year the department performed 60,148 miscellaneous duties in addition to holding down crime and enforcing the liquor laws. He appealed to the City Council and lost. An appeal was made to Attorney-General Barrett. Barrett concluded that the police were obligated to enforce the ordinance. He precluded from rendering an official opinion for the Police Board, that being in the sphere of the City Counselor, but offered him the law required the police to enforce all laws and ordinances.

In the meantime, movers' notices at the rate of several hundred a day were piled up at headquarters. The movers, not knowing what else to do, kept on sending the notices, 15 or more families to a card, to the City Registrar, and he sent them over to headquarters. The cards used were of the old type furnished by the city. Some were made out right and the majority wrong. Yesterday Miss Margaret Schuit, newly appointed clerk, started straightening out the records.

A Handkerchief

—Sleeves, so called because of its pointed resemblance to a folded kerchief, and so convenient if one's frock happens to wear the gisabatic sleeves that Autumn dictates.

A Mushroom

Yes, it's a collar—a nice, snugly collar gathered full around the neck and folded becomingly around one's throat to foil the chilly Winter winds.

Such Sleeves

A fur wrap is as smart as its sleeves. Here is one of the latest developments—such extreme, cutting, flowing effect.

FIRST GENERAL ELECTION IN IRISH FREE STATE QUIET

One Correspondent Tells of Well-Directed Egg Being Hurled at Countess Markiewicz, Republican Leader

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Dublin correspondents of the London newspapers estimate that between 60 and 70 per cent of the electorate voted in yesterday's general election, which not only was the first to be held since the establishment of the Irish Free State, but also was the quietest and most peaceful that Ireland has ever seen.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent tells of a Sinn Fein rally at Bath-more late last night at which Countess Markiewicz told her audience that the Republicans did not win a majority in the Dail there would be a contingency of shooting.

"That's your game," replied a man from the crowd, "here's the shot."

This rally was accompanied by a well-directed egg which, the correspondent asserts, found its mark.

Reports from the provinces indicate that the day passed peacefully.

Question Was for Selection of 150
Members of the Dail Eireann.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—The electorate of the Irish Free State went to the polls yesterday in 29 constituencies for the election of 150 members of the Dail Eireann. The universal verdict is that the electorate was the quietest in Irish history.
Only guards and others responsible for keeping order were at their posts and were not required, and seemingly there has been only the very small amount of intimidation, impersonation or attempts at impersonation.

According to some reports, there was a poll throughout the State of about 80 per cent of the electors.
The only places where any briskness or excitement was shown, were Cork, Waterford and Kilkenny, where the balloting is said to have been heavy;
even from all other places indicating apathy.

The discharge of firearms in the early hours of the morning in Dublin led many citizens to wonder whether the Republicans had abandoned their plan of standing as "the law and order" party, but there is no explanation of the firing and other headquarters has made no statement.

Student William T. Cosgrave was killed on the first preference vote in Kilkenny.

Prof. John MacNeill, Minister of Education, was returned for the National University.

Prof. Michael Hayes, Speaker of the last Dail and Prof. McEnnis also were elected for the National University, making a clean sweep for the Government in that constituency.

The President's brother, Philip, was elected from South Dublin, and Gen. Richard Mulcahy, Minister for Defense, and Kevin O'Hig-gin, Minister for Home Affairs, both of the present Cabinet, were also elected from Dublin. C. B. Byrne, Government candidate from Wicklow, also was elected.

Estimates of De Valera's victories, judging his own, vary from 12 to 18. The Republicans will boycott the Parliament their return will make President Cosgrave's position worse. In their absence he will have a better chance of an absolute majority.

WOMAN ACCUSES MOTORMAN OF CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS

His Car Caused Death of Joseph H.
Sharp—Open Verdict in Another Trolley Fatality.

Harry Lanster of 2209 Bredell avenue, Maplewood, a United Rattler motorman, was held today on charge of criminal carelessness at the inquest into the death of Joseph
H. Sharp, 46 years old, of 2733 Hemlock avenue. Sharp was struck by a Manchester car operated by Lanster at 5 p. m. Sunday in front of 2733 Manchester avenue, and died two hours later at the city hospital from a fracture of the skull.

William B. Eskew of 6815 Balsam avenue, who saw the accident, said the car was moving at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.
The advice of counsel, neither Lanster nor his conductor would take the stand.

Another jury, at an inquest into the death of Frank Findley, 55, of 1018 North Fifteenth street, who was killed by an eastbound Commonwealth street car on Thirteenth street and Washington avenue, Sunday night and died yesterday from a fracture of the skull, returned an open verdict of death from cause unknown.
There were no witnesses and Fred Lanster, the motorman, declined to make a statement.

Show, 4016 W. Florissant 7.12

Total $4,302.25

Acknowledgment is made today of an addition of $1460.13 from the film "Nanook of the North," which was shown for three weeks this summer at the Pershing Theater under the auspices of the St. Louis Motion Picture Council for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund, representing the per cent of the box office receipts and outside ticket sale which accrued to the fund. The following organizations and individuals were active in the distribution of tickets: Hosmer Phil, Miss Evans School, the Community School, Young Women's Christian Association, Mrs. Sidney Baer, Louise Bretzfelder, Virginia McDonald and Harold Freund, as well as a number of others whose names are not at hand.

A show at 2718 Dayton street with tickets of admission priced at 3 cents and 5 cents, earned $9 for the Ice Fund. The children who managed the production were: Hermann and Sam Thaller, Julius and Morris Wilson, Simon Baumgarten, Dave Gaylord, Louise Stern, Nathan Krutichik, Harry Stone and Meyer Loomstein.

Five children gave a show at 4016 West Florissant avenue and earned $7.12 for the babies. The workers were: Rinna Abramovitz, Selma and Mirred Stone and Julia and Norman Ballin.

A check for $5 came from a show given by Adele Walker, Katharine Mackay, Margaret Jenkinson, Helen Papp, Mary Catherine Ammon, Mary Jenkinson and Richard Hoffmeister, assisted by Edward Mackay and Charlie Vonsongel as minstrels. These children live near Vermont avenue and Haven street and call themselves the Vermont Amateur Club.

Boys from the 5900 block of Page boulevard gave a show on August 22 and cleared $2.60 for the fund and when they forwarded the money they neglected to include their names and addresses so those cannot be printed.

WOMAN KILLED IN TRYING TO BEAT HER WAY ON TRAIN

Kills Beneath Wheels at Cars Start Suddenly and Is Fatally Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Aug. 28.—A desperate plan to escape a vehicle which had beset her, cost Mrs. Violet Kashko, 21, her life. Mrs. Kashko fell beneath the wheels of a freight train on which she sought to steal her way to Granger, Wyo., where her brother lived. Her legs and right arm were severed. She died in a hospital early today.

Mrs. Kashko sought aid of a mission here for her two children last winter. At that time Mrs. M. A. Priest, a mission worker, asserted Mrs. Kashko said that her husband had deserted her and produced a bottle of poison which she said she had purchased with the only money she had.

Mrs. Kashko's children, William, 2 years old, and Pauline, 4, have been taken into private homes.

DENIAL THAT AMERICAN DOCTOR ATTENDED SPANISH PRINCES

Health of King's Two Sons Does Not Demand Care of Specialist, Embassy States.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Published reports that an American doctor had been called in to attend the Prince of the Asturias and Don Jaime, sons of the King of Spain, drew a denial yesterday in the form of a statement issued by the Spanish embassy here.

The statement read:

"On several occasions an American doctor has published in the newspapers of various countries information regarding so-called medical intervention on his part in attendance on the Prince of the Asturias and Don Jaime, thus giving rise to alarming reports about the health of these two Princes.

"The Spanish embassy is authorized to deny these reports most formally as contrary to the truth at every point. The health of the two sons of the King of Spain is happily excellent and does not demand the care of any specialists."

REMEDY FOR LOW WHEAT DISCUSSED

Establishment of Domestic Market Independent of World Prices Advocated.

By the Associated Press.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 28.—Low wheat prices are already depressing American business, George C. Jewett, general manager of the American Wheat Growers Association, Inc., asserted in an address here yesterday before the annual convention of the Missouri Farmers' Association.

"The business revival of last year is running up against the brick wall formed by the inability of the American farmer to purchase the things he actually needs," Jewett declared. "American business might as well have the facts straight," he continued. "There are 10 or 12 agricultural states where wheat is the crop of major importance. The standard point of purchasing power. As long as wheat prices are low, farmers will not be able to buy, and wheat prices today are from 30 to 50 cents a bushel below cost of production.

Way to Stabilize Prices. There is only one way in which wheat prices can be brought to a legitimate basis and that is the establishment of a domestic American market, independent of world prices. "With conditions in Europe as they are; with wheat production on the increase in Russia, we cannot soon expect to see the world's markets on a basis which will afford proper prices to American farmers."

The establishment of a domestic market must be based on prices, Jewett asserted, high enough to afford just returns to American wheat producers. "Then," he added, "our surplus wheat can be dumped on the world market at whatever price may be obtained and returns from wheat going into domestic consumption, will balance up to afford legitimate prices for the producers."

Expect to Control Production. "This, we expect to accomplish by obtaining control of American wheat production through our co-operative marketing associations with two-thirds of the wheat grown in 11 important producing states." The American Wheat Growers Association expects to market 60,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, Jewett said. The organization is the national selling agency for nine state wheat growers' associations, he said.

$100,000 Pledged to Aid Farmers in Obtaining Seed Wheat.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Farmers of Southwest Kansas were assured $100,000 aid toward purchase of seed wheat for the next planting at a meeting here yesterday of representatives of the Kansas City Board of Trade, Clearing House, millers and Chamber of Commerce. The money was pledged toward a fund for the purchase of the wheat for farmers now insolvent in southwestern Kansas. The pledge represents a third of the funds required, according to members of the Central Wheat Association, an organization formed at Dodge City, Kan., Aug. 15, to create a "seed wheat pool," from which seed would be made available to farmers on the crop-sharing plan.

C. J. Miller, secretary of the Kansas Board of Agriculture, president of the seed wheat association, declared that southwestern Kansas farmers had sustained a loss in the two previous years. He said that the farmers looked to the industrial and trade centers for relief.

National Board to Market Farm Products Urged.

By the Associated Press. WHITTON, Minn., Aug. 28.—Representatives of wheat farmers in the midwest states in a conference here yesterday passed a resolution asking for a national agricultural board "through which the farmers of America may market their products."

"We deem it ineffectual the following remedies to relieve the present plight of the farmer," said one of the six resolutions passed by the gathering. "Eat more wheat," buy 1000 bushels of wheat, "better farm credits," diversified farming, "co-operative marketing," "controlled production" and "supply and demand."

The representatives at the conference in a resolution urged that President Coolidge call a special session of Congress to get the grain corporation of wartime to working to stabilize prices of the 1923 wheat crop on the basis of cost of production.

This resolution declared that the wheat farmers of the nation have been penalized for their wartime patriotism in raising large crops at low prices when other commodities soared in prices. The resolution corporation according to the result would be an emergency measure for one year only, future years being cared for by the national agricultural board.

FALLING WALL KILLS 3 BOYS

While They Were Playing.

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 28.—Three boys were killed late yesterday when a brick retaining wall at the western yard of the city's Department of Public Works caved in. The boys were playing beside the wall when it gave way under pressure of 800 tons of sand and gravel. They were buried under several tons of sand and gravel.

The dead are Louis Frontiers, 7; Alex Kostoff, 9, and Joseph Penio, 10. Two of the boys were believed to have suffocated and the other suffered a fractured skull from falling bricks.

WASHINGTON & TENTHThis Boy is Worth a MillionYOU, his father, value him at that. Yet he may be trotting off to school each day, his joyous, developing life retarded by imperfect sight, as that of Theodore Roosevelt was in his boyhood. And the pity of it all is that you, his father, may not realize it.

Theodore Roosevelt Said:

"I was this Summer that I got my first gun, and it puzzled me to find that my boy companions seemed to see things to shoot at which I could not see at all. One day they read aloud an advertisement in huge letters on a distant billboard, and I then realized that something was the matter, for not only was I unable to read the sign, but I could not even see the letters. I spoke of this to my father, and soon afterwards got my first pair of spectacles, which literally opened an entirely new world to me.""I had no idea how beautiful the world was until I got those spectacles.""I had been a clumsy and awkward little boy, and while much of my clumsiness and awkwardness was doubtless due to general characteristics, a good deal of it was due to the fact that I could not see, and yet was wholly ignorant that I was not seeing. The recollection of this experience gives me a keen sympathy and desire to remove the physical causes of deficiency in children, who are often unjustly blamed for being obstinate or unambitious or mentally stupid."Copyright 1913, by Charles Scribner's Sons

LAKE EMPTY WHEN FISH ARRIVE

Country Club Near Edwardsville Will Place Fish in Nearby Pond.
The dam at the artificial lake of the Madison County Country Club at Edwardsville burst Sunday and almost all of the water, which had covered seven acres, escaped.
Yesterday a telegram from the Federal Fisheries Department at Washington announced that a car of fish, which had been requested some months ago, would arrive in Edwardsville tomorrow. In the emergency the fish will be placed in a pond on a nearby farm. The fish already contained two carloads of same fish obtained from the State, many of which, it is believed, have been through the rift in the dam.

CIVIL WAR NURSE IN POORHOUSE

Mrs. Janet Newbury, 101, Living on Charity in England.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 28.—The oldest surviving nurse of the American Civil War is living in an English poorhouse. She is Mrs. Janet Newbury, 101 years old.
She was an associate of Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern Red Cross nursing, in the Crimean war and later served as a nurse in the Indian mutiny. She met General Grant, Lee, McClellan and Stonewall Jackson and was cited in dispatches for "meritorious service in the Northern and Southern camps."

SHERIFF SEIZES FURNISHINGS OF PRINCESS, ILL IN NEW YORK

Onetime Protege of Kaiser and Artist of Reputation Defendant in Suit for $213,000.
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Princess Lovett Paraghy, who once lived in a 14-room suite in the Plaza, lay ill in a darkened room of her home on East Thirty-ninth street yesterday while her physician downstairs pleaded with a Deputy Sheriff not to serve any papers on her.
After Dr. Edward Pyko had made affidavit that the princess was in a critical condition, "mentally and physically," suffering from diabetes, and that the service would be a shock she might not be able to endure, Deputy Sheriff Joseph A. Langan withdrew, but seized the house furnishings and left an assistant on guard. The Princess is defendant in suits aggregating $213,000. The furnishings seized consist mainly of antiques, paintings of world-famous men by the Princess and several purported old masters, among them a Rembrandt, a Rubens and a Van Dyck.
In her younger days, before adversity touched her, she was recognized as an artist of ability and a protegee of the Kaiser. She has toured the country with an impressive retinue of servants, and generally a menagerie of pet lion cubs and leopards.

TAXI DRIVERS' UNION

Burglars Break Safe in Office at 3105A Olive and Get Dues Collected Last Night.
Burglars broke into the office of the taxi chauffeurs' union, 3105A Olive street, between 1 a. m. and 6 a. m. today and broke into the safe, in which dues collected last night and other money was deposited.
Charles J. Plann, secretary-treasurer of the union, which is local No. 405 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, said about $800 was taken. The office door was "jimmied" and the combination of the safe knocked off.

NUDE DANCING AND WOMEN BOXERS BANNED IN BERLIN

Chancellor Stresemann Requests Police to Start a Morals Campaign in Capital.
(Copyright, 1933, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)
BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Chancellor Stresemann requested the Berlin police to banish from the capital nude dancing and boxing matches between girls, and an edict to this effect has been issued and a campaign begun to rid Berlin of growing viciousness.
Bouts between girls of from 14 to 18 years old have become a prime sport in the city. Dancing of naked women in improvised houses of entertainment is one of the capital's most flourishing industries.
Before coming into power, Stresemann said the moral tone of the country must be raised if it was to recover. The new edict provides that legitimate theaters must stop producing plays that appeal only to sex interest.
Cabaret managers implored the police not to enforce the regulations during September, as their contracts with dancers and boxers run to the end of that month. The police agreed.

FARMER THROWN FROM WAGON IN COLLISION DIES OF PNEUMONIA

George Oge's Illness Resulted From Internal Injuries When Auto Hits Vehicle, Doctors Say.
George Oge, 65 years old, a farmer living on Mason road, near Olive Street road, St. Louis County, died at 6 a. m. today from pneumonia, resulting, physicians said, from internal injuries suffered last Thursday night, when he and Mrs. Oge were thrown from their wagon in a collision with an automobile driven by J. F. McElhinney of 2160 Tower Grove avenue, at Olive Street and Mason roads.
Mrs. Oge suffered a fracture of the skull and is in a serious condition.

By the Associated Press.

CHUNKS OF CORNICE FALL

Stretch of Sidewalk in Front of Pontiac Building Roped Off.
Police today roped off a stretch of sidewalk on Market street in front of the Pontiac Building, northwest corner of Seventh and Market streets, after several chunks of terra cotta from the cornice on the building fell to the street.
An immediate inspection of the cornice was ordered.

WANT CORRECT DANCING DEVICE

Teachers Also Willing to Pay $500 to Inventor of New Dance.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A device to be worn by dancers to keep their heads in the proper positions and their bodies the correct distance apart, as wanted by the American Society of Teachers of Dancing, and to this end prizes of $100, $50 and $25 were announced yesterday at the opening of the society's forty-sixth annual convention in the Hotel Waldorf Astoria.
With the Fox trot and its variations holding forth almost exclusively on dance floors nowadays, the society is also out for a new dance and is willing to pay $500 to its inventor, according to President R. W. Vinay of Milwaukee.

Will Not Confer With Union.

Employers of 100 members of Marble and Tile Setters' Helpers' Union, No. 18, who went on strike yesterday, today continued their refusal to meet with representatives of the union. The employers announced they would confer with individuals or shop groups, but not with the union. The strike was called upon order of the Building Trades Council in support of a strike of Marble and Tile Setters, Rubbers and Sawyers' Union No. 18, called July 16 after demands for increased wages were refused.

WRECKING OF SEVEN U. S. SHIPS PROGRESSES

Carrying Out Terms of the Arms Treaties Historic Vessels Are Being Junked on the Pacific Coast.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—The wrecking of seven historic American ships, begun in two Pacific coast harbors in compliance with orders following the armament conference at Washington, is progressing rapidly.

Seven "ships of the line," six of them outworn in service and the seventh, the greatest of all, still less than half completed on the launchways, are being fairly overrun by "stripping crews" removing small ordnance and other works that may come in handy later.

The stripping is completed, the ships will either be disposed of to private owners for destruction or be cut up and junked by the government.

First comes the great Monterey, 17.4 per cent completed at Mare Island, but she is foremost in the line. In point of historical interest, the Georgia, also at Mare Island, claims the greatest attention.

Back in 1906, while this battle ship was engaged in target practice off Provincetown, Mass., an explosion in one of her superimposed magazines killed the entire turret crew and nearly wrecked the ship.

The disaster led to a change in turret construction in the United States navy and the introduction of the gun ejector.

The Connecticut, at a Puget Sound shipyard, also has an interesting history. She was the flagship of the American fleet on its trip around the world in 1908, and "carried the flag" for the greater part of her commissioned existence.

With the exception of the Vermont (Fighting Bob) Evans who was on her bridge when the historic globe-circling cruise started.

The keel of the Magtana was laid Sept. 1, 1920, and the hull was completed after $8,897,000 had been spent on her fabrication. She will have to be cut up on the ways, as she is not in launching shape.

The other ships are the Nebraska, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont, all at Mare Island where they were decommissioned several months ago. With the exception of the Vermont, which was built in 1905, all of the older battleships were laid down in 1904.

Their usefulness as ships of the line passed when 12-inch rifles supplanted the 12-inch guns with which they were supplied. Their gun range is but half that of the modern dreadnaughts. The larger guns will be left on the ships, but their bores will be plugged so that they cannot be used.

The smaller rifles will be removed and possibly turned over to the army.

Under authority of the resolution, Clifford T. Hilton, Attorney General of Minnesota, and president of the association, named O. B. Spillman, Attorney General of Nebraska, to call a conference of the attorneys-general at once, at Kansas City, or some other centrally located city, to begin the inquiry.

In asking yesterday for an investigation of the oil industry, Attorney General Griffith of Illinois, said that 40,000 independent producers in Kansas and Oklahoma would go out of business if the manipulation of the gasoline market continues.

"There are four companies in Kansas in the Standard Oil Co. group," he said. "The Standard Oil Co. of Indiana does the refining and distributing. The Prairie Pipe Line Co. distributes the product brought by the Prairie Oil & Gas Co., which produces and purchases oil, and the bulk of its sales is to the Standard Oil Co. The Standard Oil Co. fixes the price of gasoline, the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. the price of crude oil, and now this price is higher in our section than in the world market."

"With the price of crude oil high and the price of gasoline low, the independent producers are going out of business."

Griffith declared that he considered it of first importance to determine if the Standard Oil Co. is manipulating the market to force out of business all of the producers in the Oklahoma and Kansas pump well fields.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH MEXICO ARE STILL UNDER WAY
Many Details Must Be Cleared Up Before Diplomatic Relations Could Be Renewed.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Exchanges preliminary to a resumption of diplomatic relations with Mexico are continuing, but it was said authoritatively at the State Department today that thus far no step had been taken which either restores such relations or extends the recognition of the United States to the Mexican Government.

Although the settlement negotiated at Mexico City by Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne is regarded here as satisfactory, it has been emphasized ever since the report of the two commissions was submitted that certain details still must be cleared up before diplomatic relations could be resumed. Communications bearing on these details have been passing between the two capitals and are likely to continue for several days, at least, before definite action is taken.

It has been the understanding that when a final accord is reached an announcement would be made simultaneously in Washington and Mexico City. The form of this announcement is understood to be one of the things still to be agreed upon. Officials appear confident, however, that a full agreement will not be long delayed.

BRITISH TO DELAY LIQUOR NOTE
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 28.—Owing to the direct interest Great Britain's overseas possessions have in the shipment of liquor to countries in North and South America, it seems likely that the long deferred reply of the British Government to the note from Secretary Hughes concerning smuggling of liquor into the United States will be postponed until after the imperial conference in London during October.

It is held by the Government that questions raised by the United States, including extension of its territorial water limits to 12 miles, should be thoroughly discussed at the forthcoming conference and the views of the colonies and Canada sought.

NATIONAL BRANCH BANKS HARMFUL, BARRETT ASSERTS

Missouri Attorney-General Says They Tend to Put All the Money Power in the Hands of a Very Few.

By the Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 28.—Serious harm to the public, particularly in the rural communities, results from the establishment of branch banks by national banks, Attorney-General Jesse W. Barrett of Missouri declared here today in an address before the National Association of Attorneys-General. Gen. Barrett spoke on the subject of "Establishment of Branches by National Banks."

A suit brought by the Missouri Attorney-General to prevent the establishment of branches by national banks in Missouri is now pending before the United States Supreme Court, and 15 Attorneys-General of other states have filed a brief in support of Attorney-General Barrett's position.

Joining in the other side of the case are the national banks of New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, California and other states where national banks have been conducting branches. The case has attracted nationwide attention and has involved an array of legal talent from over the entire country.

Barrett's Speech in Part.
"Twenty years ago an eminent banker cited Canada as an example in favor of branch banking and pointed out that numerous independent local banks existed and were prospering in competition with branch banks. Today all of the independent local banks he mentioned have passed out of existence."

"There are now only 17 banks in the entire Dominion of Canada and they maintain 50,000 branches. There is no local bank west of Winnipeg, and the cities of Vancouver and Victoria are dependent on the Eastern region of Canada for their banking facilities."

"The result is that Vancouver and Victoria are today a third the size of Portland and Seattle, although they enjoy the same natural advantages. England 50 years ago had 429 banks; in 1901 111 banks; in 1921 only 41 banks. The tendency of branch banking is inevitably destructive of the independent banking system and tends to put all the money power in the hands of a very few. It eliminates the element of local pride and interest which each community takes in its own institutions. The stimulus which local banks give to the building up of local industries is destroyed."

"This battle was fought once before, when, in the early part of the nineteenth century, the United States Bank was established first at Philadelphia and later at Washington. Public sentiment, particularly in the Central West, denounced the gathering of the money power in the hands of a few, and particularly in the control of Eastern interests. From that time until now the policy of this nation has been in favor of decentralizing banks, each individually independent of the others."

"There has never been a court decision on the question of whether national banks may establish branches. The Attorneys-General of the United States have uniformly held that such branches were illegal. The Comptroller of the Treasury, however, while not giving express consent, have, nevertheless, sat silent while national banks established branches in those states where state banks are permitted to have branches. In Missouri is the first attempt of a national bank to establish branches, although state banks cannot, and that attempt is the reason for the present suit.

"If the suit is lost, national banks will be permitted to have branches in every state. If the Supreme Court holds, however, as I believe it will hold, that branches are not permitted to national banks under the present laws, the national bank branches in New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, California and other states will have to close."

Simple Solution Possible.
"If that provokes a serious hardship upon the national banks as a disadvantage in competition with the state banks in those states, it would seem that a simple solution would be an amendment to the law making the national bank act conform to each state to the policy of the state banks. The public policy in Missouri is decidedly against branch banking, and that solution will satisfy our citizens."

"We earnestly protest, however, against branch banking in defiance of our policy with state banks, which will result first in the destruction of the state banks, and secondly in the monopolization of the banking power of Missouri."

OWSLEY SAYS THE LEGION IS FAVORABLE TO FRANCE

French President and His Wife Hosts to Delegation on European Tour.

Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publisher Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, Aug. 28.—National Commander Owsley of the American Legion declared yesterday that the legion, consisting of 4,000,000 Americans, is making strong propaganda for France.

"This is necessary," he declared in an interview here today, "since never has German propaganda been more intense. It is gaining fresh new recruits every day."

Col. Owsley said he thought President Coolidge would be renominated and the election would be a hard fight with McAdoo, Davis or Underwood as the Democratic candidate.

The American Legion and tomorrow leaders of the legion are expected to leave for the battlefields and the Ruhr before sailing for home.

RAMBOUILLET, Aug. 28.—The American Legion delegation, headed by Col. Alvin M. Owsley, the national commander, left here yesterday after a day of conferences with the French Government. Mrs. Miller and resumed their pilgrimage to Brussels where they will attend the conference of the International Veterans' Federation.

In the grounds of the old feudal castle, built by Francis the First, the French President and the first lady of France did their utmost to afford their American guests a comfortable afternoon.

SIX ARABS RESIGN FROM THE PALESTINE ADVISORY COUNCIL

Leaders of National Moslem Association Say Government Is Currying Favor With Arab Extremists.

By the Associated Press.
JERUSALEM, Aug. 28.—Another of the appointed Arab members of the Palestine advisory council, Sheikh Parich Adu Midmaid, has resigned. This resignation is the sixth from the Arab group which originally numbered 10.

Leaders of the National Moslem Association composed of Arabs who approve of Zionism and the British mandate are placing the blame for the resignations on the alleged compromising policy of the Palestine Government, which they declare is seeking to curry the favor of Arab extremists. The Zionists too are reproached for going out of their way to placate the extremists instead of dealing with the moderates. The ranks of the moderates are about to be augmented through the proposed formation of a Moslem Christian party which will probably amalgamate with the National Moslem Association organized to oppose the Widespread of Mousa Kazim Pasha.

The resignations are the more surprising in view of the Government's concession in announcing acceptance of seats in the advisory council would not be construed as recognition of the Palestine constitution.

Italy Names New League Delegate.
By the Associated Press.
ROME, Aug. 28.—The Tribune announced that Giovanni Giurati, Minister of Liberated Regions, has been appointed delegate to the League of Nations and he will leave immediately for Geneva. ## SENATOR LODGE, IN SPEECH, WARMLY PRAISES COOLIDGE

Late President Harding Also Eulogized by Massachusetts Man at Gloucester.

By the Associated Press.
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 28.—The late President Harding and President Coolidge were praised in an address by Senator Lodge at the Gloucester tercentenary exercises today.

Of President Coolidge, the Senator said: "We may deem ourselves highly fortunate in the man upon whom the great responsibility under the terms of the Constitution was thus suddenly imposed. President Coolidge is one of our own, our very own. We know him and honor him and believe in him, and the trust we feel in him will, we are sure, soon be shared by the whole country. Sprung in unbroken descent from the men and women who settled and built up New England, it is needless to say that he is a thorough American in the broadest sense and finest sense of the word. He is a man of distinguished ability, wise, careful and courageous, of unblemished character in private and in public life, experienced in dealing with grave questions of state."

Eulogizing President Harding, Senator Lodge said: "I have never seen a man in high office beset as our President was by countless clamor and faced by countless questions, great and small, who met all difficulties in a spirit who was purely disinterested as President Harding. He thought only of what his duty was and what he believed to be for the best interests of the American people whom he loved."

Candidate for Kansas Governorship.
By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 28.—Former Gov. Walter Roscoe Stubbs of Lawrence announced here yesterday that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor next year.

The Maharaja's solid silver cannon, returned with gold. It was in the possession of his family for centuries and was the chief foundation for the report of his unconquerable military power that kept his subjects and the neighboring nabobs in awe. A shot was never fired from it, but it was always in the parade on state occasions, as a symbol of the Maharaja's magnificence.

Telini, president of the Commission for the Delimitation of the Greco-Albanian Frontier; Surgeon-Major Sort, the General's chauffeur, and his aide-de-camp, have been assassinated, says an Athens dispatch to the Central News. Word of the assassination comes from Janina, Albania, the message adds.

HIRAM JOHNSON GOES HOME TO LOOK AFTER HIS FENCES

Senator Will Try to Obtain the 1924
California Delegation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California left for home today to rebuild his political fences. It was learned that Johnson goes home for the purpose of accepting the challenge of his political enemies and expressed in the publication of the Senator's personal letters by Andrew Lawrence, publisher of the San Francisco Journal of Commerce.

Senator Johnson will seek to have a delegation elected to the Republican national convention friendly to himself. Whether this delegation will be used as a nucleus for his own candidacy against President Coolidge or will be given to the President, depends largely upon developments in the next session of Congress.

Senator Johnson is credited with believing the President ought to be given "a fair chance." As the Senator sees it this fair chance depends on the President's development of the World Court or his attitude toward the League of Nations.

Senator Johnson is as much of an irreconcilable as ever, and it is understood if President Coolidge supports the World Court or leans in any way toward the League of Nations, he will regard this as a justification for his own candidacy.

COOLIDGE THE LOGICAL MAN IN 1924, SAYS SENATOR WELLER
Maryland Republican Looks on President as "Heir to the Harding Administration."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Nomination of President Coolidge as the standard bearer of his party in 1924 was advocated by Senator Weller, Republican, Maryland, in a statement made public at his office here.

"Calvin Coolidge is the heir to the policies and organization of President Harding," he said, "and is his logical successor. President Coolidge is safe, conservative and fair to the other man. He is a listener, not a talker. He does things and is not afraid. He is efficient. When he moves he knows exactly where he is going and does not have to go back. He is devoid of show and ostentation. He exemplifies the simple American life."

MAHARAJA OF BARODA DIES ON VISIT TO HOLLAND

Reputed Richest Prince of India Was Popular Ruler Over State Having 2,000,000 Population.

LAVISHLY ENTERTAINED ON VISITS TO U. S.

Created Sensation During Delhi Durbar in 1912 by Turning His Back on King George of England.

By the Associated Press.
FLUSHING, Holland, Aug. 28.—Maharaja Gakwar of Baroda, said to be the richest Prince in India, died here last night while on a journey from Berlin.

The Maharaja visited the United States twice, and was lavishly entertained in New York and Washington. His first visit, in 1906, was a short one, but when he came by way of Japan, in 1910, he made a tour of the country. His son was a student at Harvard.

The Maharaja was taken ill on board a train and died just before reaching Flushing.

During the Delhi Durbar in 1912 the Maharaja created a tremendous sensation by turning his back on King George at a reception, instead of walking backward, as is customary, in the presence of royalty. During the war, however, he proved among the most loyal of the Indian Princes, giving great assistance to Great Britain.

Family History of Prince.
The Maharaja of Baroda was 65 years of age. He was a descendant of the famous Mahratta leader, Gamaji Gakwar, who obtained from the Shah of Saurashtra the title of Shahu Maharaja for bravery in the battle of Ballapur, fought against the imperial forces of Delhi at the close of the seventeenth century.

The reign of the dead Maharaja was one of progress and prosperity. His State in India covers 512 square miles, and contains a population of 2,126,000 persons. He was a cultured man, and had written extensively on India. Not alone was he popular in India, but also in England, this fact being due to his strong support of British rule in India.

During the World War he donated from his own purse and from subscription raised by him several million pounds sterling. From his private purse his donations went for airplanes, motor lorries and various war relief funds.

Revised Onerous Laws.
Although the Maharaja during his rule introduced throughout his State revisions of laws which had greatest attention was given to education, including technical training in industrial arts and handicraft. Schools were opened for people of low caste and boarding schools for the lowest and previously neglected classes.

His son, Shrimat Jaisingrao, became a student at Harvard in 1903, and some years after took several of his fellow students on a vacation to Baroda.

LAND BANK OFFICIALS SAY FARM SITUATION IS BETTER

Loans Being Repaid in Rural Communities at Normal Rate, Conventions Is Told.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Co-operation between individual banks in land appraisal and bond distribution was urged on members of the American Association of Joint Stock Land Banks by Gov. R. A. Cooper of the Farm Loan Board.

A survey of the agricultural situation was presented by Guy Huston, president of the Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank. Aside from the farmer who confined his production entirely to wheat, he said, farming is in a better condition than the last year.

Walter Craven, president of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank and vice president of the national association, urged uniform procedure in all the land banks and co-operation between banks in every business activity. Agriculture in the Southwest, he said, is not in unstable condition, loans are being repaid from rural communities at the normal rate and there is only the ordinary amount of renewal business.

By the Associated Press.

The report was for release at midnight Saturday, but one paper printed the most important excerpt on Saturday afternoon. In consequence, the Governor-General has excluded reporters of that newspaper from his executive offices for one month.

TARKINGTON'S PLAY HAS STIRRING EPISODE

"Magnolia" Criticized as a Little Tedious Except for the One "Gorgeous" Act.

By HEYWOOD BROWN.
Dramatic Critic of the New York World.
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Booth Tarkington's "Magnolia" is a play written around one superb scene. The action of this particular situation must have been the impelling force which moved Tarkington to write the play, but it became necessary for the author to lead up to his triumphant idea and also detail what happened afterward. It seems that Tarkington has been unsuccessful in meeting these responsibilities, with the result that we have a gorgeous second act set in a play which otherwise is quite ordinary and, indeed, a little tedious.

The great moments come in a gambling house in which a young man learns the technique of courage from a battle-scarred sharper. The youth watches in amazement while the veteran shoots two unruly pawns and then sits down to a drink and a dish of ham and eggs. It is this last flourish which moves the beginner to a state of awe in which he receives a plastic pupil.

As to Courage and Honor.
General Orlando Jackson, the water of eggs, explains to Tom Rumber that courage is almost entirely a matter of practice. A brave man is a man who knows that he is safe. Honor, he adds, is a commodity affected by those who know that they can annihilate their opponents. A man who can neither shoot nor cut has no business having a sense of honor. The old gambler offers to teach the youth how to use gun and knife, and assures him that once he has the consciousness of power courage will disappear. After his first success, courage will be easy, and then reputation will aid skill in making conquest easy.

Tom proves so apt a pupil that he matures immediately at the end of the General's cynical and stimulating conversation, and we see him at the close of the second act dashing out of the gambling house with two empty pistols to give battle to the victorious Captain Blackie.

The last act shows us Tom, several years later, putting into practice the lessons learned from the General. According to all the textbooks about the theater, a dramatist succeeds by putting the audience through a series of actions. This does not hold in "Magnolia." The discussion of the nature of courage is at least twice as exciting as the exploits of Tom the graduate. In fact, the manner in which the hero overcomes all adversaries gets very tiresome in a single act. Before the play is over the character who is intended to be humorous becomes acutely offensive. The triumphs are too easy. It is about as much fun as watching Louis Arago firing knocking out sparring partners.

Glorious Theater.
Nor is the preparation for the big scene easy. Tarkington's intention to show us a coward in his first act, but as the scene is written and played we get the notion that Tom is a most determined and courageous nonconformist. Not until the last act do we learn that what we took to be principle was merely fright.

Still we will remember the play for its second act, which is a glorious theater. Here Tarkington returns to the mood of "Bohemia," not merely presidents and heads of state, but their subordinates who sensible administrative duties and active interest in the general welfare. But we need to be exercised by the play, not by those who should be most in the line of the general welfare. * * * It is not our leading men interest themselves in killing off measures proposed to should come forward with a campaign based upon the welfare of the nation as a whole. It is not enough to care for their own affairs, they are not willing to give of themselves in unselfish service to the nation. Tomorrow what will the nation do? The British seek to subvert, so says the Temps, the hostilities of Europe still more hostilities. And he ruined herself in the process of submission to Germany. The French are the true friends of the French are the true friends of the whole-hearted friendship. The British to save Central Europe from ruin to ruin everything. Albin, it is not as perfidious as they have Europe believe it would be they the French are now pursuing a difficult for anyone outside of France's program of destruction and putting Central Europe in a state of medieval. But it is a struggle for Germany; it is suicidal effort of co-operation is the only hope to bring about some sanity after has met with utter failure so far. Thron have been balked by Poland.

POLISH RELIEF WORK

American Jewish Committee Is Turning Over Activities to Body in Poland.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Announcement is made that the public health work of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee in Poland, including establishing hospitals, dispensaries, public health stations, nurses' training schools, sanatoria for various diseases, sanitary wells and public bath houses, is being turned over to the Society for Public Health in Poland, which has been formed by the American committee to continue its work.

The society is composed of prominent medical men in Poland and of public welfare workers in every community. The institutions founded by the committee comprise 43 hospitals erected or rehabilitated and subventioned; 12 sanatoria for tuberculosis, repaired and subsidized; 45 dispensaries and ambulatoria, and three nurses' training schools in Warsaw, Cracow and Wilno. One of the results of the war and excesses was the destruction of wells. To obtain a sanitary water supply, 23 wells were dug or repaired.

A source of disease and epidemics was uncleanness enforced by the destruction of public bath houses. 213 of these were erected or repaired and subventioned. To this cause can also be ascribed the epidemic of fava, a disease of the scalp that has been raging chiefly among children.

A special fund of $100,000 was set aside for combating this disease in nine X-ray stations. Sixteen dental clinics were opened and 73 physicians were placed in rural communities unable to support their own doctors. Including the expenditures for medical supplies, the amount appropriated for this work by the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee was $564,500.

Hertha Ayrton in 1885 was married to Prof. W. E. Ayrton, her maiden name being Marks. She invented and constructed a line divider and assisted in the completion of a series of experiments on the electrical arc for Prof. Ayrton during his absence in America in 1893. Mrs. Ayrton was nominated for a Fellowship of the Royal Society in 1902, but the society's council gave an opinion that the organization had no power to elect a woman. She has written extensively on electricity. She invented in 1915 and presented to the War Office for the duration of the war an anti-gas fan, of which more than 100,000 were used at the front.

RUSSIAN PILGRIMS JOIN IN MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR CZAR

Persons of All Classes, Nobles to Laborers, Gather in Sofia to Show Respect for Family.
Correspondence of the Associated Press.
SOFIA, Aug. 3.—The anniversary of the death by Bolshevik violence of Czar Nicholas II and the Russian imperial family was marked recently by an impressive memorial service in the church attached to the Russian embassy in this city.

Russian pilgrims of all classes of society, from nobles to laborers, filled the beautiful structure, which is a gift from Nicholas II. Each member of the late imperial family was mentioned by name, the priest referring to "thy servant Nikolai," "thy servant Alexandra Feodorovna," "thy servant Alexei," and so with the Princesses, Olga, Tatiana, Maria and Anastasia.

It was a devout audience, to which the act of half a dozen years ago was an event of today. Prayers were taken by the police to exclude all Bolsheviks, for fear they might disturb the services.

CONVICT ADMITS CRIME LAID TO HIS CELLMATE

Exchange of Prison Confidences Indicates Innocent Man Had Been Convicted—Release Expected Soon

ST. LOUIS, O. Aug. 28.—Thomas O'Brien and Fred William Mills, cellmates in the Ohio State prison here, became friends and friendship will mean freedom for O'Brien.

Two years ago O'Brien was sent up for a 15 to 20 year term for robbing a garage at Elmore, O. He and Mills became occupants of the same cubicle in the penitentiary. They were congenial.

"You needn't keep on telling me you are innocent," said Mills as they sat there on their bunks one night. "I know you did not rob that garage. For I did. I'm going to come clean. I like you, O'Brien."

And today O'Brien is waiting for the prison doors to swing open for him.

Circumstantial evidence led to O'Brien's conviction more than two years ago. He protested that he was innocent, but his pleas were disregarded. He was given a number, a job and a cell.

A few months later Mills was admitted to the penitentiary to serve a short term for robbery.

Four months ago O'Brien's cellmate was released. Mills was brought to O'Brien's cell.

"Where from?" asked Mills as they shook hands.

"Near Elmore," said O'Brien.

"That's funny," Mills said. "So am I."

Within a few hours they were telling each other their life history.

O'Brien related how he had been arrested and convicted for a crime of which he was innocent. The robbery of a garage in Elmore, O. He and Mills became occupants of the same cubicle in the penitentiary. They were congenial.

Finally Mills could endure it no longer. Going before the prison authorities, he unburdened his conscience and made affidavit that he, and not O'Brien, was guilty of robbing the Elmore garage; that O'Brien was in no way connected with the crime. He expressed the hope that O'Brien might be discharged.

The matter was submitted to the State Board of Pardons, which almost immediately recommended O'Brien's release. Affidavits were sent to the county from which O'Brien was sentenced. Prison officials expect notification daily to swing wide the gates for him.

OLD MINERAL WELL DIVERTED

Its Waters Turned Into Sewer So Storage House Can Be Built.

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 28.—The Du Pont mineral well, 2700 feet deep, said to be the oldest mineral well in Kentucky and in 1856, when it was drilled, the deepest drilled hole in the world, is another of Louisville's landmarks to give way before the march of business. Its waters have been diverted into a sewer to make room for a dry goods storage house.

Water from the well contained 77 kinds of mineral salts.

SALESMAN MISSING AFTER HIS PAROLE IS REVOKED

Oklahoma Governor Offers $500 Reward for Man Wanted to Complete Sentence for Attack on Girl.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok.,—Gov. J. C. Walton has offered a $500 reward for the apprehension of Ira Williams, Enid tire salesman, who disappeared after learning that revocation of his parole granted last April would require him to resume serving a 25-year sentence for criminal assault.

Blame for Williams' escape is placed by the Governor on premature publicity, since it develops that the revocation of parole was placed on record in the Secretary of State's office on the day it was mailed to the Warden of the State Penitentiary at McAlester. Instructions to arrest Williams went from the Warden to the Sheriff at Enid many hours after newspapers had published the story of the revocation.

Williams was making the round of his country territory when the Governor ordered him back to prison, and did not return to Enid as was his custom, at the week end. He was reported seen boarding a Rock Island train at Oklahoma City.

Williams was convicted of assault on Miss Sue Bonds, Russellville, Ark., who later died. He was paroled, on the ground that his mother needed his services. The revocation came on the strength of a letter from Miss Bonds' sweetheart, an ex-soldier, recounting a deathbed pledge he had given her that Williams should be punished.

Despite the widespread criticism of Gov. Walton's free use of the pardon and parole power, the initiative petition asking submission of a proposal to create an ex-officio board of State officials to supersede the executive failed to get sufficient signatures in time to secure a vote at the special election already called for State questions, Oct. 2.

DOG IS A RETRIEVER OF TROUT

He Thinks It Great Sport to Fish

KIAMATH FALLS, Ore.—Official trout retriever at Eagle Ridge, Kiamath lake resort is the title of Foss, Boston bull pup belonging to Mrs. Fannie Hope Kilmour, one of the proprietors of the resort.

When his mistress steps into a boat Foss jumps in and sits waiting for the excitement to start. The minute a fish strikes he is out like a flash. With unerring precision he reaches for the gill of Mr. Trout. Back to the boat he swims, deposits his catch and wags his tail in approval of his own good work.

OKLAHOMA FLOUR MILLS SHOW LARGER OUTPUT

European Purchases, as Well as Domestic Consumption, Credited With Increase in Demand.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok.—Business in the Southwest was so much improved during the latter half of August and there was a sufficient increase in export business to warrant increased operation of flour mills of Oklahoma at 80 to 85 per cent of capacity. These are the highest figures of the year, and are likely to be increased in September by new export and domestic contracts. Some mills report business booked to keep the wheels moving full time during September and a part of October.

Several acceptances of Oklahoma prices by European importers were reported recently. On the other hand, millers have numerous cables from Europe offering to buy on the basis of four quotations issued early in August. The volume of the movement to export in the fall of contracts was satisfactory. Back-country merchants bought liberally, in spite of the advance in flour and mill feed prices. Domestic bookings generally were satisfactory, though late arrival was complained of.

BANK HONORS 38-YEAR OLD DRAFT

Also Pays Interest of Several Times the Original Amount.

DECATUR, Ia., In May, 1895, C. W. Gorder, then cashier of the Audubon County Bank at Audubon, this State, drew a draft for $122.25 in favor of one J. S. Haddock, who in turn indorsed it to a Mr. C. S. Welch, who never presented it for payment.

At the death of Welch, a short time ago, the administrator of his estate was rummaging through the deceased's papers and unearthed the uncashed draft that had been issued 38 years ago.

The First National Bank of Audubon had in the intervening years absorbed the bank that issued the draft, and Gorder, the cashier who made out the paper, was elected the bank's president.

When the draft was presented to him recently it was promptly paid, with accumulated interest of $2,563.34, the total being $2,685.59, which the bank had for years been endeavoring to pay to Haddock, but having no clue to his whereabouts, was unable to do so.

PERMANENT WAVE
EFFECT, $1.00
Do It Yourself at Home—Simple, Quick and Easy.

All women know about the danger of these so-called permanent waves. Many women have paid dearly in money and experience to learn that the waves were not permanent, and that the method was often ruinous to their hair. But now science has brought forth a wonderful product which I call Curlette.

A few drops of this wonderful liquid used right with your old curlers—and behold!—long, straggly, unmanageable hair has been transformed into a veritable tower of waves and curls—to last a week and sometimes more. No work—no worry—practically no expense, for a bottle of this marvelous Curlette costs but One Dollar—and often lasts several months.

Your favorite druggist or department store sells it, with written guarantee that they will refund your dollar if you aren't actually amazed and delighted with the beautifully wavy hair.

Get a package of this remarkable new scientific discovery—try it—and see for yourself that you, too, can now have beautiful hair—permanently, naturally and very easily saved by yourself right in your own home.

On sale at all good drug stores and department stores, such as: Wolff, Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Johnson Bros., Enderle Stores, Stix, Baer & Fuller and Nugent's Department Store.

GUNMEN FIRE UPON RADICAL LABOR LEADER

William Z. Foster, Attacked as He Addresses Garment Workers' Meeting, Unhurt.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—William Z. Foster, radical labor leader, was the target for three gunmen who invaded a meeting of men and women garment workers he was addressing last night and escaped down a fire escape after firing several shots at him, none of which took effect.

Three men and women present, who were thrown into a panic at the shooting, escaped a few feet from the stage and began firing. In the ensuing confusion, they made their escape through the same door.

The number of shots fired was estimated at from three to a score by those present. Foster attributed the attack to "elements that are after me," but could give police no clue to the identity of the men.

The meeting had been called at the request of seven members of the union who were expelled from the organization two weeks ago by the international officers for alleged activities in advocating the amalgamation of 11 branches of the union into one big local. A resolution demanding their reinstatement was being advocated by Foster when the shooting began.

While Foster was speaking the gunmen came through a door leading to a fire escape a few feet from the stage and began firing. In the ensuing confusion, they made their escape through the same door.

After order was restored, the resolution for reinstatement of the expelled members was passed unanimously.

SOUTH AMERICAN MARKETS

With Gold in Argentine Banks They Hold Place Next to United States.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 28.—In spite of the constant depreciation of the mark German firms hold to their Argentine trade and in some products continue in second place to the United States, leaving Great Britain third. It is asserted that the important German firms engaged in foreign trade have ample deposits of gold in Buenos Aires banks, choosing to keep their surplus here rather than risk them in the fatherland.

Custom House figures for the period from May 22 to June 20, show that the United States shipped into Argentina 9701 cases of agricultural machinery and that Germany was second with 1199 cases.

American typewriter manufacturers are meeting stiff competition from German concerns, for in the same period 596 cases of American typewriters were received as against 498 of German-made machines. The same keen competition exists in sewing machines, 2620 cases of United States-made machines having been imported during this period to 2069 from Germany.

In the wire market, American firms find the German mills their keenest rival, the latter sending in nearly as much wire in June as all of the rest of the competitors of the United States. The record shows 26,217 rolls of wire from the United States, 47,803 rolls from Germany and 53,000 rolls from all other countries.

FEDERAL HOME BUILDERS RECEIVERS TO CONTINUE

Will Carry on Corporation Until Court Passes on Bankruptcy Petition.

The two receivers appointed for the Federal Home Building Corporation, and then confronted with an involuntary bankruptcy petition against the concern, which shifted the litigation to Federal Court, yesterday afternoon decided to continue the receivership work without interruption until the Federal Court passed on the bankruptcy case.

Examination of the affairs of the corporation will be continued by the receivers. A survey of 47 building projects will be started by building experts.

The receivers are A. D. Gates, head of a construction company and the Gates Investment Co., and C. N. Jacobs, a construction engineer.

Money will be collected, if possible, but nothing will be disposed of and no change made in the condition of the corporation until the bankruptcy case is settled.

Officers of the corporation, which proposed to build homes for clients at less than prevailing prices, have stated it had made approximately 400 contracts with a face value of about $2,500,000. The corporation started active business last February. It occupied extensive offices in the Tower Building, Sixth and Olive streets.

CHURCH TO AID IMMIGRANTS

Will Pay Third of Transportation From Britain to Australia.

Consent of the Associated Press.

MELBOURNE, July 24.—The Anglican Church of Great Britain has undertaken to share with various state governments of Australia the cost of bringing over desirable Englishmen to settle in Australia.

In Western Australia the Government and the church will contribute a third each of the transportation charges, the remainder coming from private sources. Measures have been taken for the reception, placing and after-care of British settlers from the mother country.

In South Australia, the Anglican church will undertake to assist the arrivals after they set foot on Australian soil.

GERMAN BEER DRINKERS WORRY

Fear Scant Hop Crop May Cause Prices to Climb.

WURZBURG, Germany, Aug. 8.—Beer drinkers are watching the German hop crop anxiously. If the production this year is not large the price of beer probably will go even higher than has been predicted by the brewers. An increase of 350 per cent in paper mark prices is scheduled, and still more may be expected, as the efforts of the Government to peg the exchange rate of the mark do not seem to be successful.

Prospects are excellent now for a good hop crop in the Franconian district, but rain during the harvest may injure the hops as it did last year, when the output was discolored and impaired in quality.

P This store—a departmentized institution of magnificent proportions—caters both to men and women of moderate means and to those in most comfortable circumstances—Everybody.

Years of charted experiences in St. Louis newspaper advertising have convinced this advertiser that this remarkable advertising medium is an investment that pays handsomely and that concentration of the bulk of their advertising appropriation in the one big Daily and Sunday newspaper is both wise and profitable.

Large and Small—National and Local—Advertisers find it pays to concentrate in the one newspaper.

In July the Post-Dispatch was the only St. Louis newspaper to make gains in every classification of advertising—in Total Paid Advertising the Post-Dispatch carried 159,880 lines more than in July, 1922. All other papers showed losses totaling over a quarter of a million lines.

Goes Overboard But Lands Fish. WINSTED, Conn., Aug. 25.—While fishing for bass in Bantam Lake, Mrs. Edgar Fowlston of Mount Vernon, N. Y., had a strike and in her efforts to land the fish plunged from the boat into twelve feet of water. Mr. Fowlston, choirmaster of Trinity Church at Mount Vernon, who was in another boat, jumped into the lake and succeeded in getting his wife to shore. Mrs. Fowlston landed the fish, however. It dropped from the hook into her boat as she went overboard. The rod, which disappeared over the side of the boat, was recovered by grappling. The bass weighed two and one-half pounds.

TRADE IS BROADER AND MORE ACTIVE ON STOCK MARKET

Short Covering Partly Basis of Buying Power—Bonds Are Quiet—French Francs Better.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The stock market today was characterized by a more active trading volume than in the past two weeks. The market was short covering partly basis of buying power—bonds are quiet—French francs better.

More active trading volume than in the past two weeks. The market was short covering partly basis of buying power—bonds are quiet—French francs better.

French Exchange Higher.
In the foreign exchange market interest centered in French and Belgian francs, both of which were in active demand. Trading in other currencies was in small volume. French francs moved up 4 1/2 points to 5.23 1/2 cents and Belgian francs advanced 8 points to 4.78 cents. Sterling at 14.54 3/4 showed no change from its low price of yesterday. German marks were quoted at 16 cents to the dollar, a cent below the previous closing. Meanwhile it is interesting to note that pre-war marks and other issues previous to the current year command a considerable premium.

Foreign Exchange

Weakness also appeared in the grain markets. Warmer weather in the West and a poorer market in Liverpool caused a cent off and this led traders to decide that the time had arrived for realizing their profits from the decline. Bulk wheat advanced 1/2 cent to 1.08 1/2, profit taking likewise brought a decline of about 1/2 cent in corn. After the recent advances in these two grains the day's reaction was natural.

Clearings, Money, Silver

The St. Louis Clearing House Association reported today that the clearing for the day was $1,000,000. The clearing for the day was $1,000,000. The clearing for the day was $1,000,000.

Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The cotton cloth market today was quiet. There was a slight advance in the price of the cloth. The market was quiet.

New York Rubber Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Rubber market today was quiet. The price of rubber was steady.

A Bigger Sales Vision for Pet Milk

EVERYONE recognizes Helvetia Milk as a great advertising success. Go where you will you are very sure to find it in the grocer's store. Yet, despite this unusual distribution—despite the fact that Helvetia Milk is familiar to most everyone—there is still a broad field for sales expansion in Chicago and The Chicago Territory.

That Helvetia Milk is a good product at a fair price is beyond question. That distribution is no longer a problem is well known. But does this mean that it has reached anywhere near its true sales possibilities?

WE BELIEVE THE ONLY BARRIER to bigger volume is consistent week-after-week telling of the Helvetia Milk story in a dominating way. We believe your next great sales step will be to educate more families to so appreciate the high quality of Helvetia Milk that they will become daily Helvetia Milk users. And we know The Chicago Tribune is the place to tell your story.

In Chicago with its 600,000 families it is estimated that only one-third are regular users of evaporated and condensed milk and of these total users only a limited percent use Helvetia Milk. Doesn't this indicate a market well worth educating? Doesn't it show where your future growth must come from?

CAN NATIONAL MAGAZINE ADVERTISING, with its thin surface coverage, do this educating work alone? Rather is it not imperative that advertising be placed in a medium like The Chicago Tribune which reaches five out of seven families in this great City of Chicago?

FOR EIGHT SUCCESSIVE YEARS The Chicago Tribune has been the leading food advertising medium of this whole area. Food manufacturers have learned that it is the one great family newspaper. They use it because it makes advertising pay.

The Chicago Tribune enjoys the largest home delivered circulation in Chicago. It is read with keenest interest by the people of five states. It influences an area where the average retailer is financially substantial and where access to large buying power is exceptional.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is the true buying guide of countless thousands of men and women in The Chicago Territory. The up-to-date merchant has learned that he can make most money and best serve his customers by selling them swiftly and in large numbers those food products they have been made ready to accept. And The Chicago Tribune does the job quickly—easily—conclusively.

THE CHICAGO TERRITORY

Nothing more strikingly reveals the influence and strength of The Chicago Tribune than facts such as these—

City	Miles from Chicago	Families	Sunday Tribunes
Kewanee, Ill.	130	3,205	1,600
Davenport, Ia.	183	11,345	6,511
Burlington, Ia.	190	4,811	1,850
Elkhart, Ind.	106	4,855	2,752
Escanaba, Mich.	312	2,621	1,435
Muskegon, Mich.	148	7,314	3,257
Madison, Wisc.	133	7,676	5,190

A PAGE AD IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE wields just as potent an influence in Laporte, Ind., or Rockford, Ill., as in Chicago. How confident then is that manufacturer having behind him this great, sales-producing medium reaching to consumer through dealer and jobber in this rich area.

In a recent survey embracing over 300 leading grocers in the 78 leading jobbing centers and covering nearly 1,500 grocers in smaller towns, this remarkable condition was revealed—

82.8% said that national advertising in The Chicago Tribune helped them in their selling.
83.6% were regular readers of The Chicago Tribune.

What a remarkable tribute to the World's Greatest Newspaper as a medium for sustaining distribution and increasing sales through nearly 60,000 retail and wholesale outlets.

IF YOU WANT TO MAINTAIN your present distribution—if you want greater jobber and dealer interest—use The Chicago Tribune. If you want consumer acceptance and a bigger consumer demand—use The Chicago Tribune. It has proven its worth through scores of consistent food campaigns. It will produce just as fully for you too.

Dramatic Scenes in Connection With the Capture of Eamonn de Valera by Irish Free State Troops

SHOCKED AS HE SEES THE ON-COMING TROOPS

FOR over a year, De Valera, who continues to style himself "President of the Irish Republic," had been a fugitive, with Free State troops looking constantly for him. Two weeks ago, he boldly attempted to address a political meeting at Ennis in County Clare, a stronghold of his friends, where he thought he would not be molested on his first public appearance since he went into hiding. He was to speak in support of certain candidates in the election held yesterday. To his surprise, he had hardly begun his address before the troops appeared and took him away amid a violent demonstration by his friends and sympathizers. So riotous became this demonstration that the troops began to fire their rifles in the air to disperse the crowds, which promptly disappeared.

Timidity Called Barrier To Success of Many Girls

To Overcome Fear Ask Yourself What There Is for You to Be Afraid of.

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB.

"I'd like to take up costume designing at night, because I have always liked that sort of work, but I am afraid I may not be successful after all my study."

"I know I could make good in the job above me, but I am afraid to talk to the manager about it for fear that I may fail."

"So often, when I interview a prospective employer about a job, I know I could fill it, but I get nervous, for fear I will not make a good impression."

Fear, fear, FEAR. Dominating these three letters which came to me in one mail. What is the fear complex, girls? Why be afraid?

A wealthy business man once told me that he thought fear held back more people from success than anything he knows—and certainly, I am inclined to agree with him. People seem to be afraid—afraid chiefly of the unknown, afraid of what MAY happen.

Now, I know it is easy to advise people not to be afraid, but it is far more difficult to get them to accept the advice. I urge you, therefore, to overcome fear by facing frankly and honestly the thing that is worrying you. Ask yourself, with utmost candor, what it is that you are afraid of. Then face that fact or thing or person in the cold light of reason. Ask yourself: Why am I afraid of it?

I believe that most people are afraid of the unknown. They have in front of them actuality, certainly, something more or less tangible. The unknown is vague, shadowy, uncertain—you're never sure how or what it will turn. And usually, you are afraid of the risk.

The only way to overcome fear is to face it bravely. The most successful people in business, the most confident ones, are those who are not afraid of things. They are not afraid to think and to be honest with themselves. And most people are.

I do not refer to bravery such as is seen in battle, but rather to a mental bravery, a confident knowledge that you are "master of your fate and captain of your soul." If you will only learn to overcome your timidity, to take a step, not recklessly, but bravely and confidently, you will not be so dominated by fear.

Expert Tells How to Treat Sunburn, Tan and Freckles

EXPOSURE to the sun's rays acts differently upon different skins; it tans some, burns others and brings out a crop of freckles and moth patches on others. Tan demands bleaches, while sunburn requires soothing lotions and creams.

Here is where "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," for a skin once tanned never recovers its former purity. It is wiser to guard against its occurrence than deliberately to cultivate a coat of tan, as so many do. Such parts of the body as are exposed to the sun's action should be anointed with cold cream and powdered well with pulverized rice. This acts as a protective mask. Careful women always cover the face with a white veil and carry a white parasol, because white does not absorb heat rays—it deflects them.

For relieving sunburn do not use cold water, or ice, as some advise, but rather apply this lotion which, by the way, is excellent for any kind of burn.

Lime water, 1 ounce; linseed oil, 2 ounces; shake well and saturate old linen, which is bound over the painful parts.

The following lotion is good for mild sunburn:

Glycerin, 4 drams; lavender-flower water, 2 drams; rose water, 3 drams; elder flower water enough to make 6 ounces. Dab this on with absorbent cotton.

Another simple lotion that is efficacious when one has acquired a mild coat of tan and wishes to prevent any further trouble consists of:

Borax, 10 grains; lime water, 2 ounces; essence of jasmine, 1 ounce; oil of almonds, 1 ounce.

It is well known that the application of water to the skin after exposure to the sun's rays brings on a coat of tan. If one wishes to prevent this apply the following lotion:

Glycerin, 1 ounce; tincture of benzoin, 1/2 ounce; rose water, 3 ounces.

Here is a mixture that removes the unsightly brownish discolorations which are the aftermath of a bad attack of tan:

Dilute nitric acid, 2 1/2 drops; rectified spirits, 10 drops; peroxide of hydrogen, 10 drops; glycerin, 20 drops; distilled water, 1 ounce. This is carefully applied with absorbent cotton, avoiding the eyes and hair.

The treatment of long standing freckles depends upon their size, depth, color and variety. Those that come early in spring and fade away of their own accord in winter are more easily conquered than the year-round sort, which are the most stubborn things to overcome. In fact, so long as an excess of iron remains in the blood freckles persist, but they may be gradually bleached by the following method: Elder flower ointment, 1 ounce; sulphate of zinc, 20 grains. Mix well and rub into the afflicted skin at night.

In the morning, wash off with pure soap and warm water and apply the following lotion:

Infusion of rose petals, 1/2 pint; citric acid, 20 grains. Mix well and rub into the afflicted skin at night.

It occurs in bats. It is quite rare in cats and horses. All animals in the dog family are likely to contract it.

Although this infection is said to prevail only during the hot weather, it occurs at any season of the year. More cases occur from April to September than from October to March in this climate because dogs run around more freely.

The popular belief that the heat of summer affects animals and they go wild, is a mistaken belief. Rabies is a disease of the nervous system, and the poison is found in the animal's saliva.

In human beings it is a wound infection, because the virus-laden saliva gains entrance to the system through a wound, either a wound inflicted by the teeth of a rabid animal, or the animal may lick some portion of skin on which there is a slight scratch or break. After the infected saliva enters the human system it takes quite a long time for symptoms of hydrophobia to appear. The period varies from 14 days to one year. The average length of time is 40 days.

Wolf bites are most dangerous because of the savage nature of the beast and the virulence of the virus.

Cat bites come next and then dog bites. Bites on exposed surfaces are more dangerous than through the clothing, because the material absorbs the saliva and little of it reaches the wound.

THE BRIDE WHO ENTERTAINS

By Loretto C. Lynch

A Recognized Authority on All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

BRIDE of last June, I have settled in a tiny home of my own. I have a kitchenette and know some things about cooking. But I am often at a loss to know just how to get up an unusually dainty bite in a hurry—something to suit most all varieties of tastes. The other evening I went to considerable trouble to make Welsh Rarebit only to find that three of our six guests did not eat it at all. Have you some suggestion?

It is my experience that most people like chicken. The guest who cannot eat red meat and the guest who does not eat shell fish all seem to hit common ground when chicken is served. For the kitchenette housewife, I suggest you purchase cooked chicken meat in glass containers.

If the company is expected, have on hand lettuce and, if possible, fresh tomatoes.

The club sandwich is always attractive if properly made. Bread toasted on one side to a delicate brown, sliced chicken, tomato, lettuce and mayonnaise and either cooked ham or bacon, if desired, may be added. A couple of large olives and a dainty pickle should accompany each sandwich.

From canned chicken may be made creamed chicken on toast or in patty shells.

Chicken à la King is creamed chicken to which is added a small quantity each of canned mushrooms, pimiento, minced and cooked chopped green pepper. This may be prepared in a chafing dish and is always appetizing when served piping hot on circles of toast.

What Mothers Should Know

By DR. CHARLOTTE C. WEST.

THE attention of my readers has repeatedly been called to the fact that domestic animals can be and are a source of danger to human beings. A knowledge of this possibility guards against the danger.

Rabies or hydrophobia is an acute infection communicated from a rabid animal to a susceptible animal, usually through a wound produced by biting. Human beings always contract the disease from some lower animal, more often a dog, simply because, of all the domestic animals, dogs are the most numerous.

It occurs in bats. It is quite rare in cats and horses. All animals in the dog family are likely to contract it.

Although this infection is said to prevail only during the hot weather, it occurs at any season of the year. More cases occur from April to September than from October to March in this climate because dogs run around more freely.

CHARLOTTE BOURETTE.

COETESS and lemonade seller, this paradox was combined in the person of Charlotte Bourrette, who was born in Paris in 1714. She became famous not alone in Paris, but throughout France under the name of La Muse Limonadiere, the Lemonade Muse. She was married twice, her first husband having been a M. Cure. Mme. Bourrette kept the Cafe Allezmand, and soon made a name for herself, not alone with what she served but more especially for her productions in prose and verse. Her writings came to the notice of Kings and Princes, many of whom visited her and encouraged her in her literary work. She also wrote a comedy, "The Coquette Punished," which was produced in the Theatre Francaise with great success. Mme. Bourrette died in Paris in 1784 at the age of 70.

A CONTINUED STORY

HE stepped out into the porch. There was still no sign of her. It was very strange! He called her again—he only wanted to say good-by, to thank her, to tell her, as he told her father, that he would not forget. And, yes, to tell her, too, if he could find the words, that some day he hoped that he might see her again. But there was no answer.

He was frowning now, piqued, and a little angry. He did not understand—only that she had opened the door for him, and in some way had deliberately chosen to evade him. He did not know why—he could find no reason for it. He moved on through the porch. Perhaps she had preceded him as far as the lane.

At the lane, he halted again, and again looked around him—and stood there hesitant. And then there reached him the sound of the porch door being closed and locked.

He did not understand. It mystified him. It was not coquetry—there was no coquetry in those steady, self-reliant eyes, or in that strong, sweet face. And yet it had been deliberately done, and about it was something of finality—and his lips twisted in a hurt smile, as he turned and walked from the lane.

"Beat it!" said Dave Henderson to himself. "You're dead!"

THE HOUSE OF MYSTERY DRAWS ITS BLINDS.

TERESA's fingers twisted the key in the lock of the porch door that she had closed on Dave Henderson. There was a queer, tight little smile quivering on her lips.

"There was no other way," she whispered to herself. "What could I do? What could I say?"

Behind her, and at one side of the passage, was a small panel door, long out of use now, a relic of those days when Nicolò Capriano's dwelling had been a house of mystery. She had hidden there to let Dave Henderson pass by; she closed it now, as she retraced her steps slowly to her father's room.

And here, on the threshold, she paused for a moment; then reached in quietly to close the door, and retire again. He father lay back on the bed, his eyes closed, and his hands, outstretched on the coverlet, were quiet, the long, slim fingers motionless. He was asleep. It was not uncommon. He often did that. Sleep came at the oddest times with the old man, even if it did not last long, and—

"Teresa—eh—what are you doing?" Nicolò Capriano's eyes half opened, and fixed on his daughter. "Eh—what are you doing?"

"I thought you were asleep, father," she murmured.

"Asleep! Bah! I have been asleep for fifteen years—is that not long enough? Fifteen years! Ha, ha! But I am awake now! Yes, yes, old Nicolò has had enough of dreams. He is awake now! Come here, Teresa. Come here, and sit by the bed. Has our clever young friend gone?"

"Yes, father," she told him, as she took the chair at the bedside. Nicolò Capriano jerked his head around on his pillow, and studied her face for a moment, though his black eyes, with their smoldering, introspective expression, seemed not at all concerned with her.

"And what do you think of him—eh—Teresa, my little one—what do you think of him?"

She drew back in her chair with a little start.

"Why—what do you mean, father?" she asked quickly.

"Bah! There was a caustic chuckle in the old bomb king's voice. "We do not speak of love—I suppose! I do not expect you to have fallen in love just because you have seen a man for a few minutes—eh? Bah! I mean just what I say. I called him clever. You are a Capriano, and you are clever; you are the cleverest woman in San Francisco, but you do not get it from your mother—you are a Capriano. Well, then, am I right? He is clever—a very clever fellow?"

Her voice was suddenly dull. "Yes," she said. "Good!" ejaculated Nicolò Capriano. "He was caught five years ago, but it was not his fault. He was double-crossed, and he would never have seen the inside of a prison."

Learn to Breathe Right and Add to Your Weight

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

FEW weeks ago I was out in the country where I was born. My boy urged me to go swimming with him. We went up the race to the dam, to the old "swimmin' hole." The place has changed but little since I was a boy. I knew all the currents, the deep place and the sandbar. Nothing was different. I even kept an eye on my clothes to make sure nobody tied knots in them.

Pretty soon along came an old school friend of mine. He had his boy with him, too. We bragged about our respective sons while the boys showed us all the latest swimming stunts.

I noticed that my friend's son was very skinny. He had a shallow chest, prominent collar bones and no rib could be seen. He told me he had tried in vain to get fat.

I proceeded to give the young man a lecture on breathing. What has that to do with fatness or leanness? This is what you will ask.

It has everything to do with it. You can never be plump and healthy until you breathe right.

You know perfectly well that a stove or a furnace will not work well unless there is plenty of draught. Without air the fire will not burn. There can be no heat without it.

The food you eat is of no value to your body unless it is burned. The oxygen of the air must come in contact with it, or it is as inert and useless as the vegetables are if left in the ground, or as the meat if left on the animal.

The red corpuscles are made to carry the oxygen to every part of the body to do this important work of converting the food into useful material capable of absorption by the tissues. But if you do not breathe as you should there are no corpuscles for the corpuscles to pick up.

In the ordinary action of the lungs in breathing, not more than 10 per cent of the lung contents is changed at each breath. This is not enough for one who is thin and emaciated.

You must practice a lot and learn how to breathe. One of my favorite instructions to poor breathers is this:

Stand in front of a lace curtain or strip of paper suspended in a doorway. Fill the lungs and blow the pattern very big and vivid.

Remarkable taffetas are making their appearance in Paris, not the least remarkable feature being their combination with organdie. These taffetas are in Scotch plaid, the pattern very big and vivid.

Copper tints are noticeable among the early autumn fabrics shown in London. That brown-gray or gray-brown known as "Autumn leaf" is a favorite. Gray is still smart, both light and dark.

The Reason That Exhaustion Is Foe of Your Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

HOW often in the course of busy days when you are flying from one thing to another do you allow yourself to become exhausted. Exhaustion is beauty's greatest foe, and I am going to tell you some of the evils it works against beautiful women. By exhaustion I mean the feeling that you are so utterly tired you can't enjoy whatever you are doing—whether it be work or play.

Not long ago I warned you against the beauty-destroying evil of continual hurry. If you will only get up in the morning a short while earlier, or plan a trifle better, you won't have to hurry, hurry through the whole day.

Now, this principle of absolutely refusing to hurry lies behind the plan to avoid exhaustion. It is the extra pressure of doing something in half the time you really should take, or having too many things to do in the course of a day, that makes you hurry until you are tired out.

This is true, of course, only if you are enjoying normal good health. If you are not well, small exertions are likely to tire you quickly and make you feel the need of rest. But the woman who is well should conserve her strength wisely so that she will never feel unduly tired. Health tiredness at the end of the day is one thing, and a chronic state of being too tired to do this and too tired to do that is another.

Let me point out some of the evils of exhaustion to you. Besides taking away the radiant, wide-awake look that is one of the chief charms of a beautiful woman, it works many other evils that are less obvious at first, but more devastating in the end.

For instance, suppose you are often very tired when you eat luncheon or dinner, in fact too tired to enjoy your food. You eat anyway, let us say, because you feel that it must be done. Your blood is sluggish and your digestion does not carry on as it should. Poor circulation which results from this sluggish condition can mar your beauty in various ways. I know you've noticed when the muscles of your face become tired. They feel tired, and you realize that they sag and that beauty-destroying lines appear. This happens because the circulation of blood in the regions about your face is poor.

Another very unattractive result of poor circulation is dandruff. Dandruff is nothing more or less than a disease of the scalp, you know. If you are perfectly healthy and untired, and if you keep your hair scrupulously clean, you should never have dandruff.

Expert Tells How to Combat Carpet Beetle

EXPERIENCED housewives in this section of the country are familiar with the stout, oval, reddish-brown hairy grubs or larvae of the common carpet beetle, found beneath carpets or in clothing. In the South the longer, slender, golden-brown larvae of the black carpet beetle, with its tufts of golden bristles, is more common.

All carpet beetle larvae feed upon fabrics or upon various articles containing wool, silk, hair, fur, bristles or feathers, including upholstered furniture. They are, therefore, usually associated in their destructive work with clothes moths. Ordinarily they are not quite so destructive as clothes moths because they reproduce only once a year, and then less abundantly than clothes moths. Often their work of destruction goes on inside upholstery without the slightest external indication of what is happening.

To give housekeepers some idea how to secure protection against beetles, Farmers' Bulletin 1346, Carpet Beetles and Their Control, by E. A. Back, entomologist, has been issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Crystals of flat naphthalene, paradichlorobenzene or camphor will give good results if used in tight chests or trunks. If the trouble is in closets in daily use, beneath carpets or rugs, or in piano felts or upholstered furniture, these substances are of practically no value. One must fumigate the house as a whole or in part with either hydrocyanic acid gas, carbon disulphide or carbon tetrachloride. Floor cracks and similar hiding places should be treated with kerosene, gasoline or benzene. Red cedar chests will kill the very young larvae. They will not kill the beetles or the older larvae, nor will they prevent the eggs from hatching.

Hydrocyanic acid gas, if properly used, is one of the simplest and best methods of fighting insect pests of the household. As it is dangerous to human beings, although noninflammable and non-explosive as employed in household fumigation, it should only be used according to directions. Some articles may be laundered to control carpet beetles. If this is done at a temperature of 120 degrees F. or higher for periods of 30 minutes or less, as the temperature is increased, eggs and larvae will be killed. Dry cleaning processes are usually effective, but not always possible with the articles affected.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

From the beginning to the end All must the school of life attend.—Old Mother Nature.

THERE isn't a nook or crevice in the old Stone wall that Striped Chipmunk doesn't know. He knows the old stone wall as you know your house. All his life he has known Johnny and Polly Chuck, so he knew just what kind of a place would probably suit the young Chuck, who wanted to make his home in the old stone wall for a while. The young Chuck was delighted, for Striped Chipmunk led him straight to a hole that had been dug under the old stone wall, with an entrance between two big stones. It was an entrance just the right size for the young Chuck to pass through easily. He was very grateful to Striped Chipmunk and he told him so.

"Don't mention it," replied Striped Chipmunk, his bright eyes twinkling. "Don't mention it. I hope you'll enjoy it here. I'll be glad to have a neighbor." Then without another word he scampered away.

The young Chuck soon made himself at home. Within just a few feet of the bushes along the old stone wall was plenty of grass and tender, sweet clover. There was almost no risk at all in getting all he wanted to eat. Truly it was a delightful place. He no longer thought of going back home. He was satisfied right where he was. So he spent his time eating and sleeping and growing and learning lessons.

He didn't know he was learning lessons, but he was. One of the first things he learned was that Bowser the Hound was quite harmless to him unless he should be careless enough to be surprised too far from the old stone wall. He learned that Black Pussy the Cat was no longer to be feared by him, but that she was a constant danger to Striped Chipmunk. So Reddy Fox was just trotting past.

Whenever he saw her he would give the alarm.

He learned to know the feathered folk who lived in the Old Orchard, and to understand their warnings of danger. It didn't take him long to find out that their eyes were much sharper than his, and that when he heard them shrieking in a certain way it was best to get close to the entrance to his home. Early one morning he heard Sammy Jay shrieking "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

Very cautiously he poked his head out to see what Sammy was making such a fuss about. He pulled it in again in a hurry. Reddy Fox was just trotting past. After that whenever he heard Sammy Jay calling "thief" in just that way he knew that Reddy Fox or Mrs. Reddy was somewhere near.

Just in time to see Hooty the Owl swoop down for a young Meadow Mouse. So he learned that it wasn't safe to go out too early in the morning. He learned in the same way that it wasn't safe to stay out after the first of the Black Shadows came creeping out from the Purple Hills. Every day he learned something and tucked it away in his head where he would never forget it.

Philosophy

We can be busy without being useful.
Riches take wings and fly away, but only when the owned by flighty men.
Even the avaricious are in giving advice.
Silence is golden only nothing we can say will help.
Every tomorrow has two dies. We can take hold of the handle of anxiety or the handle of faith.
Are you sure your best has been a little better?

Old Dutch keeps kitchens tidy

Old Dutch is a tidy housekeeper. Indeed this thrifty modern helper ranks high among the labor savers that help good housekeepers get their work done quickly, easily, thoroughly and at less cost.

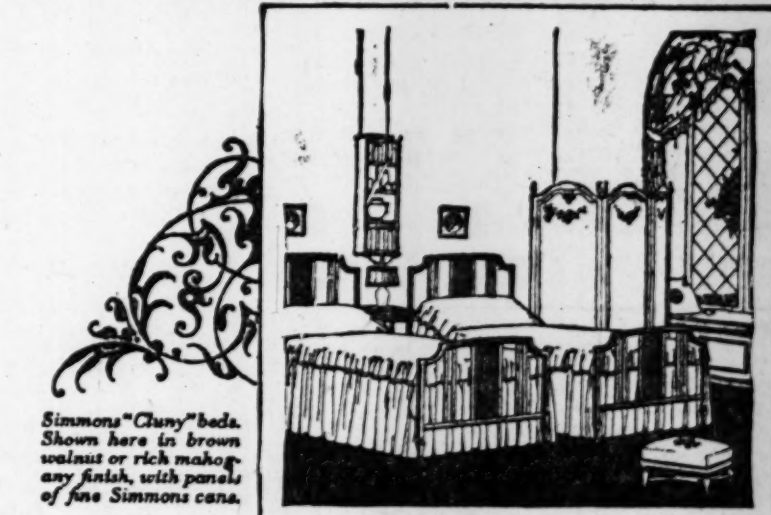

The secret of this lies in its character. It is a natural cleanser, mined from the earth. Its very fine particles, due to their flat shape, make complete contact with the surface. They therefore cover more of it and do more cleaning, with less material.

It contains no hard, jagged grit which touches the surface only on its sharp corners and scratches and grinds in the dirt, making cleaning difficult and requiring more frequent cleaning. Old Dutch removes the dirt—not the surface.

Let Old Dutch have the run of the house.

You can quickly tell an Old Dutch kitchen

Sound sleep has kept "Ty" Cobb in the great game for 19 years

"Ty" Cobb, veteran of the big leagues and still one of the greatest players in baseball, says he has retained his speed and remarkable batting skill because he has made it a rule to sleep at least ten hours every night. So, too, the champions in all pursuits of life realize that a wide-awake mind and rested body are essential to conspicuous success. They recognize that sound sleep and faultless bedding play important parts in their careers.

Knowing this, why not take ten minutes tonight to study the spring and mattress you use? Why not go to your furniture dealer's tomorrow, and compare your bedding, feature by feature, with the Simmons springs and mattresses he offers you in a wide range of styles and prices? With all the facts before you, decide for yourself whether you are getting the kind of sleep that will keep you in a leader's place in the game of doing and living.

BACKING UP.

THE Mackmen, whom we hoped would lead.
Have caused us much dejection.
They're going still with lots of speed.
But in the wrong direction.

At them we could no longer scoff.
Their playing was so stellar.
But if they are not headed off
They'll bust into the cellar.

And so like our beloved Browns.
The roster's hopes they shatter.
The Mackmen have their ups and downs.
But principally the latter.

GREETINGS.

Well, maybe we'll be able to say
"howdy" to Mexico by Christmas anyway.

Uncle Sam ain't mad at nobody.
Especially his foreign relations.

This is shoe thrift week. Business of running a shoe string into a pair of shoes.

Don't throw your old shoes at brides. Take 'em to the shoemaker.

Battling Siki is on his way to the United States. Cafe waiters and policemen please note.

Albertino, master cook, will get Firpo's stomach in shape to withstand Jack Dempsey's attack on his commissary department.

When writing letters, politicians should never forget to add the important postscript: "Burn this letter. Burned letters tell no tales."

RODEO AND BASEBALL.
THE baseball rooters go to see
The bucking bronchos jump:
Next day they watch with equal glee
The players ride the ump.

QUITE SO.

With a master cook to look after his stomach and a master mind to direct his training, Luis Firpo hopes
to master Jack Dempsey on Sept.
14.

It won't be long now until the snow shovel is battling for the lawn mower and the grandstand managers are picking the most valuable player in the Hot Stove League.

There is no excitement any more in seeing the ball knocked over the fence. The homer that gives a real thrill is when somebody knocks the pill over the centerfielder's head and has to run it out.

There is a real kick in seeing a fielder chasing the ball to the flag pole and catching up with it just as the runner is rounding second base for the sprint home.

And when the dust has blown away and the catcher and runner untangle themselves and the ump spreads his hands out with the palm down, oh, boy! ain't it a grand and glorious feeling!

It being understood, of course, that runner is wearing the uniform of the home team.

Miss Helen Willis, national women's tennis champ, has entered the University of California as a fresh man or freshman, as the case may be.

"Dangerous Dan" McGrew, the Memphis pitching ace, stands 6 feet his stomach and a master mind to direct his training, Luis Firpo hopes
to master Jack Dempsey on Sept.
14.
